Punishment of Grafters Pledged by Hughes

EVERY DISHONEST OFFICIAL TO FACE TRIAL, HE STATES

Secretary of State Asserts There Are Crooks in Every Party, and Some Get Into Office.

'PRESIDENT COOLIDGE HIS OWN PLATFORM'

Secretary Takes Especial Pains To Counteract Action of Pepper in Laying Blame Upon Harding.

New York, April 15.—Every dishonest official and every perverter of administrative authority, in or out of office, will be brought to justice with the sacrifice of constitutional procedure, Secretary of State Hughes announced in a key-note address at the New York republican state convention at town hall Tuesday night. His address is regarded here as an authentic statement of administration views.

Hughes declared that there are crooks in every party and that now and then one of them gets into office.

"Let wrongs be exposed and punished, but let no partisan pecksniffs affect a holier-than-thou attitude," he remarked. "The corrupting currency can be found in democratic satchels."

Praise for Harding.

Hughes took special pains to counteract the effect of the Portland speech of Senator Pepper which criticized the "bad appointments" of the late President Harding. He repeatedly emphasized the achievements which took place under Harding.

As to the republican policies for the coming campaign, Hughes declared that "President Coolidge is his own platform."

His first message to congress, Hughes said, charted the course of the party.

"No other platform is needed. The best assurance of the future is the character of President Coolidge."

Hughes pointed out that the work which was left unfinished at the recent conference—limitation of aircraft, submarines and land armaments—"will be taken up as soon as there appears to be a reasonable prospect of success."

"Do Not Condone Wrong."

Plunging into the scandal question, Secretary Hughes said:

"Let it be understood that we do not condone wrong; we extenuate no crime. We would not put any obstacle in the way of discovery and punishment of any official dereliction. We would bring to the bar of justice every dishonest official and every perverter of administration in or out of office. This is a duty which cannot and will be, competently discharged by the appropriate agencies without any sacrifice of constitutional procedure."

"Neither a political party has a monopoly of virtue or of race, nor are crooks in every community and in every party. Now and then one gets into office. Let wrongs be exposed and punished, but let no partisan pecksniffs affect a holier-than-thou attitude. The corrupting currency may be found in democratic satchels. One who is corrupt is as selfish to his party as to his government. Guilt is personal and corruption known to all."

The secretary recited the steps which have been taken by the administration to prosecute the oil lease case, promising that "every public

BEST BID FOR 497 CASES "OLD CROW" IS ONLY $19 CASE

Newark, N. J., April 15.—John A. Bernhard is trying to sell 497 cases of real Old Crow whiskey, but no one has offered him more than $19 a case.

There is no use trying to write, phone or wire a bid, however, Bernhard is receiver for Alex S. Seidler, Inc., wholesale drug dealer, and the whiskey is included in the firm's assets. He told vice chancellor Backus Tuesday that he had tried to dispose of the whiskey through legal channels, but that the $19-a-case bid of a hospital was the best offer he had obtained.

COOLIDGE LETTER AMAZING CENSURE OF SENATE, GLASS

Expresses "In Temperate Way the Indignation Every Senator of Spirit Must Feel" at Rebuke.

Washington, April 15.—The cross-fire of senate controversy that has raged for three days about presidential intervention in the Pinchot-Henry-Mellon wrangle continued unabated today, with Senator Glass, of Virginia, delivering what his democratic colleagues hailed as the formal declaration of their resentment at the president's language.

The Virginia senator spoke after careful preparation. He had not been assigned to the task, his party colleagues said; but when he concluded they crowded about him to clasp hands in congratulation, while Senator Reed, republican, Pennsylvania, was kept waiting for order that he might make brief reply.

Senator Glass disclaimed any partisan purpose. He voiced respect and admiration for the president and Mr. Mellon; declared himself opposed to the action of the investigating committee in proposing to employ Francis J. Heney at the personal expense of Senator Coughens, republican, Michigan, but added that he could not remain silent in the face of the message that contained the president's "amazing arraignment of the senate of the United States as a menace to orderly government."

Won't Remain Silent.

"I see no immediate part in any investigation and have contributed no word of consequence to the discussion of them," Senator Glass said, "but I refuse to remain silent when a presidential message is put upon the desk which asperses the patriotism and even the honesty of the senate."

Senator Glass delivered his address with great earnestness and no senator on either side sought to interrupt him. Republicans and democrats alike gave him the closest attention throughout.

He was guiltless of any desire to "assault" the president or the secretary, the senator reiterated time and again, but felt constrained "by every consideration of self-respect to repel the unprecedented assault made by the president."

KIDNAP ATTORNEY WANTED IN OHIO

Detective Takes Him From Chapel Hill, N. C., to Virginia Train on Way Home.

Chapel Hill, N. C., April 15.—(By The Associated Press.)—Despite the cancellation by Governor Morrison yesterday of requisition papers issued yesterday, Carl Wiegand, local attorney, wanted in Columbus, Ohio, on a charge of non-support of a child by his former wife, was taken from this city today and is reported to have been removed from the state in custody of Otto C. Kaffits, a city detective of Columbus.

According to R. O. Everett, of Durham, attorney for Wiegand, the latter was carried away forcibly after he "evened" had informed Kaffits of the cancellation of the requisition papers by Governor Morrison, of which he had already been advised. Three minutes after Wiegand had been carried away in an automobile, by Kaffits, accompanied by Chief of Police George T. Featherstone, of Chapel Hill, a telegram from Governor Morrison ordering proceedings halted was received.

ATHLETIC CLUB TO PAY $225,000 FOR HEALEY LOT

Unanimous Action at Annual Meeting Paves Way for Erection of Greatest Clubhouse in South.

LOT HAS FRONTAGE ON IVY AND AUBURN

No Plans Yet Made for Disposition of Present Club Pending Completion of New Clubhouse.

Immediate purchase, at a price of $225,000, of the parcel of land at the corner of Auburn avenue and Ivy street, known as the Healey property, for the erection of a palatial new city clubhouse, was authorized Tuesday night at the annual meeting of the Atlanta Athletic club, following adoption of the unanimous report of a special committee composed of Paul Norcross, Carlton Smith and William Fuller.

The new property, centrally located, is admirably suited, in size and accessibility, for the comprehensive plans tentatively outlined for the new structure, which will be one of the finest pieces of club architecture and design in the United States when plans of the club have been consummated.

Upon motion of Robert P. Jones, it was voted to proceed immediately with definite plans for the structure, to be submitted to a called meeting of the club as soon as possible for approval. An option on the property, the only unimproved corner at this intersection, has been secured until May 1, and it is expected that the deal will be completed within the next few days. The property is owned by Mrs. Ada Moore Johnson.

Fronting 195 feet on Ivy street and 225 feet on Auburn avenue, the lot is exceptionally commodious for one so centrally located and the situation offers several other advantages. Tentative suggestions already made consider utilizing for the club building only 100 feet of the Ivy street frontage, holding 95 feet for other usages, and 200 feet on Auburn avenue, allowing an additional parcel on that street for other usages or for lease.

The club's auditor estimated Tuesday evening that by utilizing this excess space, the taxes, interest and sinking fund on the entire property could be paid. An "auto hotel" to utilize the spare 25 feet on the Auburn frontage, and the entire depth, probably of the lot, is one suggestion which met popular favor, since many cities now have these and since in

In this particular instance the onions are twice blessed—they point a moral and adorn a tale.

Tuesday night Bert Collier, a local newspaperman, finished his daily stint of work, and as is the habit of gentlemen of the press, lied himself to a wienie joint, where he absorbed a wienie or two as a sort of reward for a huge portion of onion relish.

Feeling satisfied and rather comfortable in his midriff, and desirous of retaining the comfortable feeling as long as might be, Mr. Collier boarded a short ride through the park.

In Piedmont park he was invited to alight and, being of a complaisant

Girl's Right To Have As Many Powder Puffs As She Wants Upheld

Plymouth, Mass., April 15.—A girl's right to arm herself with as many powder puffs as she likes has just been sustained by the principal of the local high school.

"Let them turn themselves into walking marshmallows, if they want to," ruled the principal, despite protests from teachers.

The powder puff war has been raging since a teacher several weeks ago decided the girls were spilling too much powder on the floor and removed the mirror from their dressing room.

Indignant as the result of such action, every girl in school signed a petition demanding the return of the mirror. Tuesday the principal handed down his ruling, and the mirror was ordered restored.

AL SMITH GETS NEW YORK VOTE

State Delegation Instructed for Him for President. "Will Be Honored To Lead Party."

Albany, N. Y., April 15.—Governor Alfred E. Smith, of New York, was acclaimed as the candidate of his party in the state for the presidential nomination at the democratic state convention here today.

His candidacy was formally launched in two resolutions, one calling upon the state's 80 delegates and eight alternates-at-large to the democratic national convention to support him, and the other, the concluding paragraph of the party platform, hailing him as the "type of public official imperatively demanded by the times."

The governor, whose appearance in the convention auditorium was the signal for a vociferous demonstration, told the delegates he had not sought the honor which they would thrust upon him, but if the necessary votes could be obtained in the national convention, he would be "honored beyond power of expression to lead the forces of the party in the next campaign."

One holding public office, and using that position as a stepping stone to greater honor, he declared, was not worthy of the office he occupied. He told the convention that his present duties would require his constant attention for months to come, and that he would attend to those duties and not seek personal advancement.

DEMOCRATS WILL MEET IN GARDEN

Decision Is Reached After Members of National Committee Visit Artillery Armory in Bronx.

New York, April 15.—Members of the democratic national committee definitely decided today that the national convention of the party would be held in Madison Square Garden, originally planned, and not in the 25th Field Artillery armory in the Bronx, as suggested by some members in order to admit more spectators.

This decision was reached after members of the committee had visited the Bronx armory, which is about 40 minutes by subway from the hotel and theater district, and it was said the subject would not even be discussed by a subcommittee on arrangements, which had planned to take up the proposal.

The subcommittee of the national committee, which is arranging details of the convention, had considered a possible change, because of the unprecedented demand for seats. The garden can only seat 12,231 persons whereas the Bronx armory can seat between 22,000 and 25,000.

The huge armory, described as the largest convention hall in the world, covers 180,000 square feet. It is 600 feet long and 300 feet wide and there are no posts to obstruct the view of the spectators. The gallery alone will care for 5,000.

BETS ON COOLIDGE ELECTION REVISED DOWN TO EVENS

New York, April 15.—Wall street is revising its estimate of the national political situation. Upstate money has swung betting that President Coolidge will succeed himself in the direction of events.

Money is offered as follows:

One thousand dollars against $4,000 that Smith will be nominated by the democrats.

One thousand dollars against $8,000 that Coolidge will be re-elected.

Five thousand dollars to $1,000 that Coolidge will be his party's nominee.

Seven thousand, five hundred dollars against $5,000 that he will be elected.

STATE RIGHT IDEA GETS ENDORSEMENT OF PRES. COOLIDGE

Retention of Sovereignty Essential to Maintenance of Founding Principles of Nation, He Says.

SPEAKS AT UNVEILING OF ARIZONA MONUMENT

Local Self-Government and Local Reflection of Nationwide Opinion Must Be Supported.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Washington, April 15.—Retention of sovereignty by the states is essential to maintenance of the founding principles of the nation and its government, President Coolidge declared in an address today at the unveiling of the Arizona memorial stone in the Washington monument.

"If we are to maintain the nation and its government institutions with a fair semblance of the principles on which they were founded, two policies always must be supported," the president said.

"First, the principle of local self-government in harmony with the needs of each state. This means that in general the states should not surrender, but retain their own sovereignty and keep control of their own government."

Workable Similarity.

"Second, a policy of local reflection of nationwide public opinion. Each state must shape its course to conform to the generally accepted sections of society and to the needs of the nation. It must provide a workable similarity of economic and industrial relations. It must protect the health and provide for the education of its own citizens."

"Throughout our whole nation, there is an irresistible urge for the maintenance of the highest possible standards of government and society. Unless this sentiment is heeded and observed by appropriate state action, there is always grave danger of encroachment upon the states by the national government. But it must always be realized that such encroachment is a hazardous undertaking and should be adopted only as a last resort."

True Course To Follow.

"The true course to be followed is the maintenance of the integrity of each state by local laws and social customs which will place it in comparative harmony with all the others. By such a method, which can only be the result of great effort constantly exerted, it will be possible to maintain an 'indestructible union of indestructible states.'"

The president's address was a part of a ceremony attending the unveiling of the Arizona stone, a block from the petrified forests of that state. Ceremonies were held at the 320-foot larding in the monument.

WORTH $500,000.

P. W. Ballard, of Los Angeles, California, who said he was an oil man, told the committee that Hamon had told him that it would be "worth $500,000 for Albert B. Fall to be secretary of the interior," that $150,000 was to be paid him in cash and the remainder in annual installments during his four-year term in the cabinet.

OPPOSES FREEDOM FOR PHILIPPINES

Immediate Action "Would Be Heartless Betrayal of Our Trust," Says Major General Wood.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Washington, April 15.—The granting of immediate independence to the Philippines by the United States "would be a heartless betrayal of our trust and result in turning over the twelve million people of these islands to strife and disorder in the future," Major General Leonard Wood, governor-general of the islands, has reported to Secretary Weeks.

General Wood said that while he sympathizes with the desire of the Filipino people for independence, he knew they are not yet "prepared to assume its responsibility, either from the standpoint of instructed public opinion, preparedness for defense, a common language or economic resources."

General Wood stated the conviction that President Coolidge in his letter to Speaker Rogers, who headed the Philippine independence commission to the United States, voiced the true interests of the Filipino people, and indicated a sound, sane and humane policy which should be followed.

MIDNIGHT KISSING BEST FOR LOVERS, ASSERTS DOCTOR

New York, April 15.—"Do your kissing at midnight," is Dr. Donald B. Armstrong's advice to those who must indulge in osculation.

Following a study of tuberculosis in relation to kisses, Armstrong classes them as an "extra hazardous occupation."

Morning kisses are most dangerous of all, Dr. Armstrong told a regional conference of the American Red Cross, here, with the element of danger lessening as the day wears on.

The "goodnight kiss," he admitted, is not so bad.

KNIGHT REJECTED AS U. S. COUNSEL IN OIL LITIGATION

Lawyer Had Been Nominated as Special Counsel in Suits To Recover Properties in California.

Washington, April 15.—After weeks of delay the senate today finally rejected the nomination of Samuel Knight, of San Francisco, to be special government counsel in litigation looking to the recovery of sections 16 and 36 within the confines of California Naval Reserve No. 2.

Action was in executive session, but it was reported that the vote was 39 to 26 to uphold the adverse recommendation made on the nomination by the oil committee which disclosed the circumstances that caused congress to direct President Coolidge to employ special counsel to prosecute the suits. These suits are for the recovery of the California oil lands which had been ceded to that state as non-mineral school lands.

Walsh Leads Fight.

Senator Walsh, of Montana, the committee prosecutor, led the fight against Mr. Knight on the ground that he had acted as counsel for the Equitable Trust company in which the Rockefeller family are large stockholders. Section 36 is operated by the Standard Oil Company of California.

Senator Shortridge, republican, California, recommended the appointment of Mr. Knight and spoke in his behalf before the vote was taken.

The oil committee resumed its public hearings today, receiving more testimony about statements alleged to have been made by the late Jake Hamon, republican national committee man from Oklahoma, concerning events at the republican national convention at Chicago in 1920.

WORTH $500,000.

P. W. Ballard, of Los Angeles, California, who said he was an oil man, told the committee that Hamon had told him that it would be "worth $500,000 for Albert B. Fall to be secretary of the interior," that $150,000 was to be paid him in cash and the remainder in annual installments during his four-year term in the cabinet.

Reciting that Hamon had told him before the Chicago convention that he wanted to be interior secretary, Ballard said the national committee man had stated after the convention that "the combination had been too strong for him; that the Sinclair interests had beaten him to the goal; that the stake was Teapot Dome."

Sharply Cross-Examined by Senators Spencer, of Missouri, and Stanford, of Oregon, republicans, Ballard said he was not an intimate of Hamon; that he had met him often in the oil fields and that the talk about the Chicago convention was rather casual. He reiterated that he testified reluctantly.

H. E. Clifton, of Ardmore, Okla., proprietor of a hotel, testified that Hamon frequently visited his place in the evenings and that he heard him talk about the Chicago convention several times. At one time, he said, Hamon had stated that he had spent $105,000 at Chicago, but the witnesses could not say to whom the money was paid.

PRESIDENT PLANS TO USE BIG STICK AT G. O. P. MEETING

Notifies John T. Adams That He Will Prepare Memoranda To Serve as Platform Basis.

FEELS NO OBLIGATION TO PRESENT CONGRESS

Coolidge Also Intends To Make His Preference Known as to Chairmen of Convention.

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER.

Washington, April 15.—Evidence that President Coolidge will insist upon making the important campaign decisions himself instead of abdicating in favor of a party regency of best minds as Harding did four years ago is accumulating, confirming the forecast made in these dispatches one week ago.

Coolidge already has advised John T. Adams, chairman of the republican national committee, that he intends to prepare a memorandum to serve as the basis for the republican platform at the Cleveland convention. This memorandum will be handed to the committee on resolutions before it begins its deliberations.

Envoys on Senators.

This promises to encroach a trifle upon the prerogatives of the senators, who usually dominate the committee on resolutions. But it is realized that in view of the record of the present congress from an administration point of view, Coolidge owes it little and there is no disposition to blame him for insisting upon drafting the party's campaign chart. In fact, there is considerable approval of this course on the ground that it will tend to substitute the president's brief, crisp style for the long-winded, rambling views which are usually dumped, waste-basket fashion, into the platform.

The president's desire to draft his own platform was carefully taken into consideration by Secretary of State Hughes in his keynote address at the New York republican state convention. Hughes pointedly refrained from outlining a platform, declaring that "President Coolidge is the republican platform," thus devising a formula which leaves the president generous latitude.

Incidentally, Hughes attempted to extricate the president from the embarrassment resulting from Senator Pepper's recent speech at Portland, Maine, blaming the scandal troikas on bad appointments by Harding. The president disclaims any responsibility or prior knowledge concerning Pepper's speech and sought to have Hughes counteract the effect of this utterance by making a generous tribute to the work of the late president.

Coolidge also intends to make his preference known regarding the temporary and permanent chairman of the Cleveland convention. He is now considering a list of available party orators for these two places of distinction. He will make his preferences known to the committee on arrangements before it selects the convention officials two weeks hence. (Copyright, 1924, by United News.)

Amount Represents One-Third of Total Gasoline Tax for First Quarter. Emanuel Gets $4,667.

Checks totaling $266,473.84 in all probability will be mailed to the various counties in Georgia this afternoon. This represents the counties' share of the collections for the first quarter in 1924, under the state gasoline tax of 3 cents per gallon. Rather, it represents the first quarter's payments, including a little over $20,000, which should have been included in the final quarter of 1923, but which did not reach the treasury department until late for inclusion in the checks mailed out January 15.

The amount going to the counties from this quarter, to be exact, is $236,147.06, representing one-third of the gasoline tax collections for the three months. Under the law, another third goes to the state highway

HUGHES IGNORED BY IMMIGRATION BILL AMENDMENT

Delicate International Situation Created as Result of Vote To Exclude Japanese From U. S. Shores.

HANIHARA'S LETTER ANGERED SENATORS

Presidential Veto Is Not Expected—Jap Foreign Office Upholds Stand of Ambassador.

BY THOMAS L. STOKES.

Washington, April 15.—Disregarding the opposition of Secretary of State Hughes, the senate has adopted the amendment to the immigration bill excluding Japanese, thereby creating a delicate international situation and adding to the differences between the administration and congress.

The amendment, introduced by Senator Shortridge, of California, was adopted without a record vote and without discussion. Its acceptance came suddenly at the end of several hours of heated debate on another matter—the recent letter of President Coolidge on the internal revenue bureau investigation.

Sensor Shortridge, its author, had consented to its consideration being postponed until Wednesday. Late in the afternoon Senator Reed, of Pennsylvania, in charge of the immigration bill, hastily conferred with Shortridge, Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, democratic leader, and Representative Johnson, of Washington, chairman of the house immigration committee.

He then presented the amendment, asking that it be given precedence over pending amendments, which was allowed. Senator Jones, of Washington, asked what the amendment was. It was then adopted without a roll-call, with less than half of the membership present.

Adoption of the amendment followed a day of speculation among the capitol as to the attitude President Coolidge would take, and talk as to the possible reaction in Japan. A spokesman for the president declined to say whether Coolidge would veto the immigration bill because of the Japanese exclusion provision. The Japanese embassy also is silent.

The president was fully informed of the sentiment of the senate by Senator Lodge, of Massachusetts, republican leader, who told him in a conference at the white house Tuesday that the Japanese exclusion amendment would be adopted because of the resentment at the letter of Ambassador Hanihara, indicated in the overwhelming vote Monday to abrogate the "gentlemen's agreement."

Veto Not Expected.

General opinion at the capitol is that the president would hardly dare to veto the bill on the basis of the

Says the G. O. P. Now Dislocated At Every Joint

Harrisburg, Pa., April 15.—It is not safe for a republican leader to join those who are fighting graft and corruption, Senator Pat Harrison, democrat, Mississippi, declared in a political speech here Tuesday night, referring to republican criticism of Governor Pinchot for his attacks on prohibition enforcement.

"The republican party is now dislocated at every joint and bleeding at every pore," Harrison said. "In its present lamentable plight, each leader offers a different apology. Criminals, when forced to defend, are generally caught in their framed-up alibis."

It even pains a democrat to hear and read the charges and counter-charges being hurled by the republicans against each other. Why, even your own governor is not immune from the attacks of administration spokesmen in the United States senate.

OF POISON CHEESE

Americus, Ga., April 15.—(Special.) Three negroes are dead and about 30 white persons and negroes are seriously ill at Leesburg, near here, today as a result of eating tainted hoghead cheese.

The poisonous food is said to have been sold by a dealer at Leesburg Saturday and many cases of illness developed during Sunday and early today.

The dead are Mary Allen, Reuben Davis and Victoria Brown, all negroes, while among the whites made seriously ill are the family of Will Ballard, Mrs. Susie Spillers, L. R. Manning and child.

All these were critically ill this afternoon, though improvement was noted in the condition of the Manning child.

ATHLETIC CLUB BUYS HEALEY LOT

this instance it could be made available for the club members and the general public.

Club In Fine Shape.
The treasurer's report Tuesday night was highly lauded by the membership, it being shown that a net profit of $25,000 had been made by the club's operation in 1923. Scott Hudson, president of the club, is ill at his home in East Lake, and the meeting was presided over by Henry Hein.

By unanimous vote of those present it was decided to present Mr. Hudson with a loving cup and flowers, symbolic of the esteem in which he is held by the membership and by people of Atlanta generally who know him as one of the community's leading citizens and one of the nation's most beloved sportsmen.

Spare No Expense.
The prospective new clubhouse is expected to make the Atlanta Athletic club take rank with the leading clubs of America in appointments and completeness of detail, since its country club at East Lake is now one of the country's finest and since no expense or care will be spared in construction of the new town house.

East Lake, with its championship golf course of 6,000 yards, has long been recognized as one of the best golf courses and best appointed homes in the United States and has won for the Atlanta Athletic club high rank which will be entirely matched by the new edifice.

Last year, when it was definitely decided to purchase land for the erection of a new home, the athletic club purchased the lot just east of their present building on Auburn avenue, with a view of possible future construction and likewise an idea toward insuring themselves of acceptable neighbors. The total frontage now owned on Auburn avenue by the club is 100 feet and it is expected that this property will be disposed of when the new purchase has been consummated. The present building takes up only 50 feet of this frontage.

Since it has been voted to pursue the erection of the new building without delay, it is believed that plans for the edifice will be submitted to the membership shortly.

disposition at the time, did so. The solicitor trio then suggested that Collier be relieved of any undue weight that might be in his pockets, and suggesting the action to the suggestion carried it into effect, garnering $4—the one part of the story that reeks more of fish than of onions. Newspapermen as a rule do not ever possess four whole dollars, all at one time.

Whiff of Onion.
However, the bandits apparently did not know Collier was a reporter as they expostulated with him at the small amount of cash.

Then one of them got a whiff of the fourth estate banquet, to-wit: onion sandwich.

"Have you been eating onions?" quoth the first bandit.

"Certainly," replied Collier in an offended tone.

"Here, take this and buy yourself one gun," quoth the second pocket-digger, tendering $1 for the purpose.

"You walk home from here," advised the third highwayman.

And all three drove off.

Detectives Ginn and Wiley are investigating the case.

well as visitors will be here for the day's events.

Yaarab Temple of Atlanta will be the big headlines of the day's program. The Athens Shrine club, of which W. A. Capps is president, and Harry Patat, secretary, will be host.

A special train bringing Yaarab Temple members will arrive about 10 o'clock Wednesday and a big parade will be staged on the downtown streets. About 40 neophytes will be in the parade.

At 1:30 o'clock a barbecue will be given to which all Shriners and their wives and members of the Athens Rotary and Kiwanis clubs are invited.

The parade will be held on Clayton street at 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, and a Shrine show at the Colonial theater will be followed by a dance given by the Athens Shrine club Wednesday night.

High officials are scheduled to be here, including Potentate Charles A. Bowen, Chief Rabban Wylie West and Recorder George Argard.

SHRINE SPECIAL TO BEAR PILGRIM.
With the Seaboard Air Line's biggest passenger locomotive all dolled up in Shrine colors, and the train manned by Shriners in every capacity in which a noble can be used, Yaarab Temple's special Shrine train for Athens, Ga., will leave the Terminal station this morning at 8:30 (Atlanta time) under the special charge of Noble Fred Geissler, southern passenger agent.

Potentate Charles A. Bowen will be escorted by the largest caravan of Nobles and ladies that ever made a pilgrimage from Atlanta.

The train will consist of practically all Pullman cars and will carry a full complement of the members of the five uniformed organizations, the divan, and a large number of unattached nobles and ladies. Potentate Bowen announces that nobles who cannot get away on the special train at 8:30 may leave on the 11:25 a. m. train, arriving in Athens in time for the coronation, the patrol drill at 5 p. m., the vaudeville show to be given in the evening by the band, chapters and the oriental band, assisted by Miss Anna Mae Coleman and six of her beautiful dancing girls, as well as the big Shrine ball to be given at the Georgian hotel after the vaudeville show.

Railroad fare for the round trip to $2; seat in Pullman going, 75 cents; lower berth returning, $3; upper berth, $2.50. Returning, the special will arrive in Atlanta about 7 o'clock, Atlanta time, Thursday morning.

COOLIDGE LETTER
AMAZING CENSURE

these officials upon the integrity of the United States senate.

Intended to Threaten.

"The senate is charged," he declared, "with the creation of a condition actually subversive of the most sacred guaranty of the constitution. The president himself has not bothered to disguise it. Not in a line or sentence is there hesitation or concealment. The president intended to be vehement, he intended to be threatening.

"Quite intolerable enough it is to have individual senators go about castigating the accusations that their colleagues here are 'indecent' and engaged in 'dirty business' when they bring into the light of day the hidden offenses of maladministration. Bad enough it is in this incendiary fashion to apply the facts of mis-information and vituperation to an already inflamed and poisoned public opinion which would stop pursuit of the actual criminals and punish the senate for exposing crime. For one, I am totally unwilling, without protest, to have the prestige of the chief magistracy put in the balance against senators, sworn as he is, to uphold the constitution and constrained to a course of fearless and upright official conduct."

Senator Glass said he could not approve the employment of a special counsel by a member of a senate committee and "all this discussion" would have been averted had the president confined himself to criticism of this exceptional procedure. "But, neither the president nor the secretary desired to confine this controversy," he declared. "Neither desired to discuss an episode. Both wanted to project an issue. And I reject as untenable and little less than childish the suggestion that the secretary and the president are proceeding solely against an irregularity of method, prompted by inconsequential bickering between a cabinet minister and a senator of his own party on a question of taxation. The text and tenor of Mr. Mellon's letter to the president and the latter's message to the senate afford an effective refutation of such an hypothesis."

Denby's Guileless Stupidity.
"It is the trifling incident of an irregularly compensated attorney general, however, much to be deprecated, that has caused the white house and the treasury to despair of orderly government. They tell us it is the 'condition' which the senate has brought about; the 'lawless government' which the senate has instituted as a substitute we must assume, for the better attuned administration of Fall, as helped by Denby, and Daugherty, as aided by Jesse Smith, and Mr. Denby, the victim of his own guileless stupidity."

"It is the condition of lawless government, created by senatorial investigations which is creating consternation in the departments and bureaus and indeed, alarming the country. It is a unique doctrine which we are gravely assured that the exposure of wrongdoing and the driving from office of the criminal and the negligent constitute lawlessness in the government."

"And then we are assured that the senatorial investigations are hurting business. The same plea was made when Christ drove the hucksters from the temple at Jerusalem. The same plea was made by the image makers at Antioch when Paul preached against idolatry; and now we have it here in behalf of the Falls and the Daugherty and Denbys. Apply the doctrine of this message and letter, and the senate of the United States stands convicted while Fall goes free. Apply the philosophy of the president and his secretary, and the senate stands convicted while Sinclair enjoys undisputed possession of Teapot Dome."

Declaring the country had been falsely told that the revenue bill and other important measures had been "obstructed" by the senate inquiry, Senator Glass, himself a former secretary of the treasury, asserted that the Mellon tax plan has not the remotest chance of being enacted by the present congress. In view of that fact, he said, republican members of the finance committee are "causing unnecessary delay and continuing defeat" of tax reduction and the driving of the Mellon plan to shreds. Its submittal to the senate, he predicted, would lead only to "unprofitable debate."

Senator Glass enumerated that senate investigations had "sent Albert B. Fall to Three Rivers a disgraced man and a self-confessed felon;" had revealed "the utter indifference" of Edwin Denby to the public welfare and brought about his retirement from the cabinet; had disclosed conditions in the department of justice that brought about the dismissal of Harry M. Daugherty as attorney general; had revealed the appalling conditions in the veterans' bureau and had caused congress with the approval of the president to move for the recovery of the naval oil reserves.

"Whatever else may be revealed presents a wide field for speculation," he continued, "but what has been disclosed does not justify a charge that the senate has brought about a condition of lawless government. Rather should the senate be commended by the president and the country for exposing such conditions in government."

The Virginia senator declared President Coolidge "must withdraw from a position that not only is untenable, but positively distressing to his fellow citizens."

Paying tribute to Secretary Mellon as "the outstanding figure of this administration," Senator Glass said he never had believed an inquiry into the internal revenue bureau would produce anything reflecting on Mr. Mellon's official or personal integrity. He had hoped, he added, that some relief from bureaucracy in that division of the treasury might come out of the inquiry. Asserting that after announcing that he courted investigation of his income tax returns, Secretary Mellon had changed front, Senator Glass added that Senator Watson, republican, Indiana, had supplied the explanation with a "startling frank statement" that the senator, Mr. Mellon and the president "alike stood aghast at an investigation of the prohibition enforcement unit in the treasury."

"Government by investigation is not government," the secretary says, added Senator Glass. "Conversely, government by suppression is not government."

Republican Probes.
The investigations which the republicans instituted when they recovered partial control of congress after the world war numbered 51, Senator Glass said, and nearly $150,000 was expended by them at one session for investigation purposes.

"Two million dollars were appropriated in addition," he added, "for the department of justice to continue its espionage. And what of their 51 investigations? What has any one of them amounted to? Where is the tainted dollar that was spent in the eight years of the administration of Woodrow Wilson? Where is the culprit that you sought? Where is the cabinet minister displaced? Where is the man who was indicted or twice? What has become of them? Thrown out of court with a judicial reprimand that should have carried at least chagrin and mortification to the lawyers who instituted the proceedings."

Turning to republican attacks upon President Wilson during the last years of his administration, Senator Glass said:

"Let us not recall the persistent attempt to discredit the administration of the sick man—how they hired neurologists to speculate upon the mental capability of the sick man as affected by his physical disorder. Better were it, perhaps, not to refer to the facts."

A senator from Pennsylvania from his place in this chamber made the unqualified declaration that upon the return of President and Mrs. Wilson from abroad they had brought in free of duty several million dollars worth of gifts from the crowned heads and people of Europe. They wanted to examine the pocket handkerchiefs and one or two lace coverlets that had been given in token of friendship.

Reed Charges "Animus."
The revenue bureau committee had shown "animus," Senator Reed said, by asking only for Mellon company tax records, and he added "that never was a record found clearer." Governor Pinchot, "an ardent prohibitionist," he said, then came to Washington and suggested to Senator Couzens, republican, Michigan, that "he privately employ a muckraker" in the person of Francis J. Heney.

"The president was speaking the best thought of the country when he protested," said Senator Reed. "You will not admit it in this chamber but you will know it from your correspondence. You will know that the country is sick and tired of these investigations."

"These investigations, with their Roxie Stinson hearsay evidence, have been discredited by the country. The public is fed up on them and though you democrats will never admit it, you know it."

"If we are acting on hearsay evidence," suggested Senator Caraway, democrat, Arkansas, "the president had loaned his aid to a nefarious attorney general because of it."

Senator Robinson, the democratic leader, declared Secretary Hoover had surrounded himself with business experts whose salaries are met in part from the secretary's own purse.

"It doesn't appear that he thinks that improper," Senator Robinson said, "or that the president has written him a letter about it."

Senator Reed also drew fire from Chairman Brookhart, of the Daugherty investigating committee.

personal hygiene

Physicians strongly discourage the use of poisonous, irritating or burning solutions for personal hygiene. In addition to the danger of having them around, they eventually injure delicate tissues and membranes when used strong enough to have real germ-killing power. Zonite is non-poisonous and non-irritating. It may be used regularly strong enough to destroy bacteria without harm to the sensitive tissues of the body. It has ushered in a new era of effective and safe personal hygiene.

told a sordid story of graft through sale of liquor permits.

Kerns testified that:

Abe Ungerleider, Cleveland, gave $50,000 to the republicans campaign fund on the understanding that he would get his money back in liquor permits.

He employed John E. Todd, former law partner of Attorney General Daugherty, as his attorney because of his influence with the attorney general, but they were able to do business on the permits because they had the prohibition director appointed, and wanted $50,000. If I wanted permits, the price would be $17 per case.

Barnett came to the Consolidated drug plant to talk over the permit situation," he continued. "Barnett said they were able to do business on the permits because they had the prohibition director appointed, and wanted $50,000. If I wanted permits, the price would be $17 per case."

Barnett also was quoted by the witness as saying "they were able to do business" through Howard Mannington and Ralph Cole in Washington.

"I told him," continued Kerns, "that the price would be prohibitive."

It was Barnett, he added, who "brought me to Ungerleider."

Kerns told of his own trial and sentence at Toledo, saying he had been informed that if he employed "Stewart" (Bolton) as counsel to secure a new trial, the motion would be considered by the court. His partner, W. E. Talheim, tried and sentenced jointly with him, he added, to employ Bolton and the motion for retrial made by Bolton before Judge John M. Killette was taken under advisement.

Kerns said he refused to employ Bolton and a similar motion by his counsel was denied and he was sent to the penitentiary while his partner was "still at home."

Senator Wheeler interjected that the department of justice had told him over the telephone that Bolton was U. S. attorney in Ohio from 1915 to 1920, and "is now doing special work for the department of justice" in Ohio.

Good Friend of Sleep.
Ungerleider had told him, Kerns said, that "he could handle a large volume of whiskey through the Armand company, a drug and candy concern at Cleveland."

The witness then told how Fred Grant, alias Guardoff, "a wire tapper," had been paroled from Atlanta and had gone to Havana. In connection with that parole Kerns testified he had seen a telegram in the case from a Washington attorney whose name he could not recall, but who was described to him as "a good friend of Sleep."

The warden at Atlanta called him by telephone in New York recently and told him to return to the prison after he had "discussed with some people" his probable appearance before the Daugherty committee, Kerns testified.

Later, in Washington, he said, Heber Votaw, the federal superintendent of prisons, told him there had been "some mistake" in his case, and that he was to go back to Atlanta when released from the committee subpoena.

He had been explained to him, he said, that in the granting of his parole, signed by Votaw and Harry M. Daugherty, certain conditions relating to his case had been "overlooked."

Kerns said there had been "three deals put across" in connection with 100,000 gallons of alcohol at the Old Hickory powder plant, Nashville, Tenn.

"People who knew about it," Kerns said, told him that Jess W. Smith was concerned in these deals in which alcohol was bought from the government at 30 cents a gallon and "sold for beverage purposes at $10 a gallon."

The witness said he heard from a Columbus broker in January, 1922, of the Old Hickory alcohol and made a contract there to purchase 100,000 gallons at 30 cents a gallon. Five cartons were taken out by workmen, he added, who were there ostensibly to do the denaturing.

His contract was stopped when a cartload was seized in Chicago, Kerns said. He had heard since, he added, that the Old Hickory alcohol had been sold to a New Orleans distilling company at 17-12 cents a gallon under contract that required ultimate denaturing, the witness added.

Along in the fifties there were 125 cartons, he claimed, Barnstable as their home, and now there is only one, Captain Ansel Lothrop, who is past 80 years of age.

Divided on Future Course.
The committee appears divided as to its future course in regard to the "elusive witness," Senator Wheeler indicated that he might ask that Mannington be arrested, if he could be located, and brought before the committee. Chairman Brookhart thought it might be best not to pursue the case further because it might result in Mannington securing court immunity.

Mannington's letter said he refused to testify for these reasons:

"First, I deny the constitutional authority of the senate to conduct the investigation of Harry M. Daugherty. . . . Such an attempted investigation is tantamount to an impeachment proceeding. . . . I further deny the right of the senate to conduct investigations of this character, except they be in aid of legislation or in furtherance of your constitutional powers."

"Second, I call your attention to senate resolutions number 157, 183 and 189, which resolutions confine the scope of your activities to the investigation of your activities as attorney general. . . . He has resigned from that office and his resignation has been accepted by the president of the United States, and I deny the right of your committee under the resolution which created it to make further investigation."

"Third, in view of the report and statement to the senate of the United States made by your chairman on April 9, wherein he reported to the senate the existence of a conspiracy to protect criminals and crime by payment of money, in which conspiracy there were alleged to be Harry M. Daugherty, the attorney general, Jess Smith and myself, it is apparent that no useful purpose can be served by further testimony, nor can a fair hearing be accorded before a tribunal which announces itself as a shield of the guilt of those whom it was impartially to investigate."

Was Prisoner in Atlanta.
C. H. Kerns, recently released on parole from the Atlanta penitentiary, told the Daugherty committee what he declared was the inside story of the liquor conspiracy in which he had been convicted in Ohio.

He named Abe Ungerleider, of Ohio, as one of those to whom he sold a large consignment of whiskey, and declared Ungerleider had told him he was in a position to dispose of the liquor because he had contributed to the republican campaign fund.

At one time, Kerns also testified, an Ohio attorney named Warren Barnett had offered to get liquor permits for him at $17 a case through Howard Mannington and Ralph Cole in Washington.

The witness said he employed John Todd, a former partner of Harry M. Daugherty, to represent him in order to secure influence at the capitol but went to the penitentiary anyway. He was released on parole in February, but declared that since he had failed to several people about appearing before the Daugherty committee he had been ordered by Heber Votaw, the prison commissioner, to return to Atlanta as soon as he was released from subpoena.

Kerns told of the liquor permit situation in Ohio, saying he had talked several times with "Abe Ungerleider" about disposition of warehouse receipts for 500 barrels of whiskey Kerns owned. He said he sold the whiskey to Ungerleider after the latter had told him he could secure permits because of a $50,000 contribution he made to the republican campaign fund.

Kerns told of organizing the "Consolidated Drug company" to manufacture intoxicating beverages for "medicinal purposes." He was told to see "Warren Barnett, a partner of William Halley, and one of a coterie of Ohio people who were handling liquor permits."

"Barnett came to the Consolidated drug plant to talk over the permit situation," he continued. "Barnett said they were able to do business on the permits because they had the prohibition director appointed, and wanted $50,000. If I wanted permits, the price would be $17 per case."

Barnett also was quoted by the witness as saying "they were able to do business" through Howard Mannington and Ralph Cole in Washington.

"I told him," continued Kerns, "that the price would be prohibitive."

It was Barnett, he added, who "brought me to Ungerleider."

Kerns told of his own trial and sentence at Toledo, saying he had been informed that if he employed "Stewart" (Bolton) as counsel to secure a new trial, the motion would be considered by the court. His partner, W. E. Talheim, tried and sentenced jointly with him, he added, to employ Bolton and the motion for retrial made by Bolton before Judge John M. Killette was taken under advisement.

Kerns said he refused to employ Bolton and a similar motion by his counsel was denied and he was sent to the penitentiary while his partner was "still at home."

Senator Wheeler interjected that the department of justice had told him over the telephone that Bolton was U. S. attorney in Ohio from 1915 to 1920, and "is now doing special work for the department of justice" in Ohio.

He had been explained to him, he said, that in the granting of his parole, signed by Votaw and Harry M. Daugherty, certain conditions relating to his case had been "overlooked."

Kerns said there had been "three deals put across" in connection with 100,000 gallons of alcohol at the Old Hickory powder plant, Nashville, Tenn.

"People who knew about it," Kerns said, told him that Jess W. Smith was concerned in these deals in which alcohol was bought from the government at 30 cents a gallon and "sold for beverage purposes at $10 a gallon."

The witness said he heard from a Columbus broker in January, 1922, of the Old Hickory alcohol and made a contract there to purchase 100,000 gallons at 30 cents a gallon. Five cartons were taken out by workmen, he added, who were there ostensibly to do the denaturing.

His contract was stopped when a cartload was seized in Chicago, Kerns said. He had heard since, he added, that the Old Hickory alcohol had been sold to a New Orleans distilling company at 17-12 cents a gallon under contract that required ultimate denaturing, the witness added.

Georgia Cotton Growers' Association Elects Officers in Annual Meeting

The board of directors (at bottom) is composed of (left to right): Kneeling, A. M. Wilkins, Comer; A. K. Sneed, Carrollton; W. A. Reeves, LaGrange; J. A. Bowers, Meigs; Ben Baker, Ellenton; J. E. Conwell, Lavonia; C. A. Addington, Lavonia; C. R. Ware, Lawrenceville.

Second row, J. Leonard Rountree, Summit; R. L. Manning, Bethlehem; E. H. Blount, Waynesboro; J. M. Council, Americus; W. J. Oliver, Shellman; J. W. Morton, Athens; Dan Witcher, Carlton. In background, L. A. Dean, Rome; J. Hugh Gilreath, Cartersville; D. B. Franklin, Statesboro; T. B. Thornton, Hartwell; Claude Eubank, Eastman; W. T. McArthur, Sr., McGregor; W. A. Shiver, Cairo.

J. E. Conwell, president of the Georgia Cotton Growers' Cooperative association, Tuesday was elected for 1924 at the annual meeting held here. Mr. Conwell has headed the organization since it was incorporated in 1922 and was re-elected without opposition.

W. A. Reeves, of LaGrange, and W. T. McArthur, Sr., of McGregor, were re-elected vice presidents of the association, and Claude Eubank, of Eastman, was again named secretary.

The executive committee consists of the president, the two vice presidents and two elective members, and to fill these two places the board selected A. K. Sneed, of Carrollton, and A. M. Wilkins, of Comer.

Director named C. R. Ware, of Lawrenceville, Vice President Reeves and President Conwell to represent the Georgia association on the board of trustees of the American Cotton Growers' exchange. The exchange is composed of all state cotton cooperatives and is the overhead organization to more effectively market the cotton of the more than 250,000 southern farmers who are members of cotton cooperative marketing associations, it was pointed out.

Officers were elected by the board of directors and at the meeting immediately afterwards a program of work for the coming year was discussed and mapped out for the association.

The association numbers approximately 40,000 Georgia cotton producers who have signed contracts among themselves to market their cotton cooperatively and orderly over the entire cotton year, and it was announced that the association had received considerably more cotton during 1923 than was received in 1922, notwithstanding that the Georgia crop in 1923 was more than 100,000 bales less than was produced in 1922.

The directors took immediate steps toward putting on a membership campaign and optimism was expressed as to possibilities for many new members being signed up in the association this year. The membership campaign was first started by Queen Elizabeth last year added thousands of new members to the association's membership roll.

LOOT RECOVERED BY RAIDING PARTY IN ALLEGED DIVE

Jewelry and clothing valued at $2,000 was recovered Tuesday by Detectives Joe E. Wiley and E. W. Ginn, following the arrest of four negroes in a raid on an alleged burglar rendezvous at 33 Davis street. Much of the stolen articles came from the home of Mrs. S. Fishman, 475 Capitol avenue. Some of the goods belonged to Miss N. Simmons, who lives in the Fishman home. Officers are anxious for persons who have sustained losses in recent burglaries to come to headquarters for the purpose of identifying articles of clothing still on hand, which consists of fine dresses, waists and finery of all kinds. The negroes gave their names at police station as C. D. Ingram, Lillie Ivey, Celeste Ivey and Percy Ivey. The roundup covered a period of three days.

JOHN ON TRIAL IN FULTON COURT ON LIQUOR CHARGE

Trial of Paul John, arrested March 3 in a raid at 410 Glen street, when one of the biggest liquor hauls in recent years was made, was begun before Judge G. H. Howard in Fulton superior court Tuesday.

John is charged with violation of the prohibition law, and is also accused in connection with two other cases, one of which was made when a distillery on Eleventh street was raided last November.

At the Glenn street place the raid netted a copper distillery of 150 gallons capacity, 1,500 gallons of beer and 25 gallons of whisky, and was participated in by several city and county officers.

John, whose real name a witness testified was Paul Otsikas, was indicted jointly with A. Algier and Nick Shivelous. He is represented by Attorneys Paul Carpenter and Joe Berman. The state is represented by Solicitor General John A. Boykin and Attorney John H. Hindson.

Tom Sawyer Wants to Go Swimming

Do you remember the old swimming hole? Talk about sport. Those were the days!

But the old swimming hole had certain disadvantages. It was not always sanitary, and it was frequently unsafe.

While you realize these things now, you know, too, that every genuine American boy still wants to go swimming. But where can he go?

The answer is a Concrete Swimming and Wading Pool. With its graduated depths, the Concrete Pool safeguards the older boys, and does away with danger of the little fellows "going in over their heads."

Concrete construction is ideal. It insures freedom from expensive upkeep.

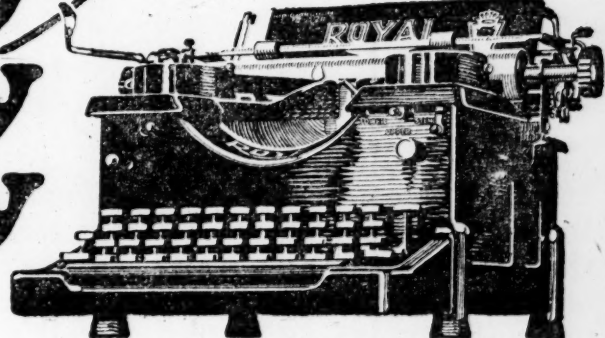

It is also sanitary. A Concrete Pool is easily cleaned. And quick draining and re-filling make possible fresh, clear water at all times.

Watch for advertisements telling about the many other uses of concrete. And remember that the Portland Cement Association has a free personal service to offer you. Whether you use concrete or have it used for you, this service will give you more for your money.

Write today for your free copy of our booklet, "Concrete Swimming and Wading Pools." Talk this important subject over with your friends and neighbors. Remember that your boy is more or less like Tom Sawyer—he wants to go swimming.

NOTE REINSTATEMENT OF TEN PENSIONERS

Reinstatement with back pay for pensioners dropped in January. Mayor Walter A. Sims was recommended to council by the pension committee after examination of the pensioners in special session Tuesday afternoon.

The pensioners are W. M. Watkins, E. Little, W. H. Cook, Weyman, J. C. Martin, M. J. Smith, W. Burrell, all former firemen; T. P. Brown, former construction department employee; J. M. Glover, former probation officer, and Joe Abath, former sanitary inspector. All had been dropped from the pension list in January when Mayor W. Sims learned after investigation that they had employment and were not under obligations to contribute the support of men who were able support themselves. The pension committee, together with Dr. J. P. Kennedy, city health officer, examined each man in turn at the mayor's office Tuesday afternoon with the mayor present. They found that none of them were in condition to hold the jobs they had held with the city prior to being pensioned.

ST. LUKE'S CHOIR OFFERS CANTATA SERVICE TONIGHT

The choir of St. Luke's Episcopal church will sing the famous Passion Service, of A. R. Gaul, tonight at 8:30 o'clock. This is one of the most beautiful cantatas, depicting the crucifixion of the Christ, it is said. The choir will present a special program of festival music on Easter day, both at the morning service and at 7:30 in the evening.

Soloists for tonight's cantata are Mrs. Jack Lester, soprano; Mrs. Charles Hollingworth, alto; H. M. Smith and Byron Warner, tenors; T. G. Seidel and H. R. Bates, baritone. Miss Dora Duck, organist and director, will have charge of the service.

The text of Gaul's Passion Service is divided into six parts, first: The traitor at the table; second, the denial in the palace; third, the unjust condemnation; fourth, the mockery on Calvary; fifth, the shadow of death; sixth, the Holy Sepulchre.

Therrell Indorsed For Vacancy on Education Board

D. Mc. Therrell, president of Tech High Parent-Teacher association and a prominent official of the Southern Bell Telephone company, Monday night was selected as a choice of a large number of representative citizens of the seventh ward to receive their indorsement for the vacancy on the board of education made vacant by the resignation of W. L. Moore.

Resolutions were adopted requesting members of the council from the seventh ward to support him. The meeting was held at the residence of R. M. Brandon, on Oak street. Mrs. F. A. Corsey presided over the meeting, and J. H. Hopkins was elected secretary. He was instructed to notify ward representatives of the action in the nomination of Mr. Therrell. Mr. Therrell was notified of his nomination and agreed to accept the post provided business affairs could be so arranged as to permit it.

AUTO ASSOCIATION IN REGULAR MEET AT CECIL TONIGHT

The April membership meeting of the Atlanta Automobile association will be held tonight at 6:15 o'clock at the Cecil hotel roof garden. This association is composed of approximately 175 dealers and allied trade lines of Atlanta and vicinity.

George A. Brush, general sales manager of the Oxburn Abston company, will deliver the feature address. Mr. Brush has spoken before many sectional and national meetings of automotive salesmen and service men all over the United States during the past five years, and an unusually large crowd is expected to be present to hear him. "Pat" Elrod is in charge of entertainment features and announces that he has six exceptionally good feature attractions. There will be a special musical program by a leading orchestra and several dance numbers by Margaret Moorind, assisted by several other popular Atlanta dancers.

New York Negroes To Study Conditions Of Race in Atlanta

Fifty leading negro business men from New York, Chicago and other cities of the north and south, will arrive in Atlanta Thursday, it was stated Tuesday. The delegation, which was scheduled to arrive Tuesday, will spend Thursday in Atlanta and leading negro citizens are making plans for their entertainment.

The visitors will make a tour of the colored business and residential sections and will study development of their race and conditions under which they live and work in Atlanta. On Friday the party will leave for Savannah, continuing an extended tour they are making through many southern cities.

WAR MOTHERS ASK FOR 1925 CONVENTION

Efforts will be made by a number of Atlanta women who attend the convention of the War Mothers Service Star Legion, at Salt Lake City, Utah, June 22 to 29, inclusive, to bring the 1925 convention to Atlanta, according to announcements Tuesday by members of the local chapter.

Disabled veterans of the World war are to hold a convention in Salt Lake City at the same time and an effort will be made to bring that convention here in 1925, it was said.

SUICIDE'S REASONS FOR ACT UNKNOWN

For reasons that may never be known, W. C. Hoer, 30, for many years attached to the American consulate at Lima, Peru, Tuesday morning ended his life in his room in a downtown hotel by sending a bullet through his brain, after penning a note to his life-long friend, J. F. Bussey, of the Bussey Lumber company.

DRINK OR DRUG

POISONING requires ELIMINATION. The Neal Treatment acts as an ANTIDOTE for these poisons, creates a longing for drink or drugs and overcomes the diseased condition. (No Exercise used.) Dr. J. H. Conway, 10 years with the "Neal" in charge Neal Institute, 222 Woodward Ave., Atlanta, Ga.—(adv.)

at East Point. The letter made certain requests concerning the burial of his body.

Hoer, more recently a traveling representative for a large wholesale paint concern, registered at the hotel Sunday night. Apparently he was in a cheerful mood throughout Monday, or that portion he spent around the hotel, it was said.

"I was never more shocked in all my life," declared Mr. Bussey when he learned of Hoer's death. Bussey expressed surprise that Hoer should have come to Atlanta without letting "his life-long friend" know he was here.

He was a man of temperate habits in every particular and I can conceive of no possible cause for his act," Mr. Bussey said.

Two years ago, Bussey had occasion to visit Lima, Peru, where Hoer was stationed as vice consul, he said. They had "tramped around" together there and in many other places.

Hoer's dead body, together with the pistol with which he killed himself still warm, was discovered following an alarm given by W. C. Stockman, of Cresco, Iowa, who heard the noise of the pistol as it was discharged.

A coroner's jury, which investigated the death Tuesday morning, found that Hoer came to his death from a gunshot wound, self-inflicted. His body is at the chapel of Barclay & Brandon, pending word from relatives in Pensacola, Fla.

Besides his father, who lives in Pensacola, Fla., two brothers and two sisters survive him, Bussey said.

HARDWICK QUILTS FEDERAL OFFICE TO RESIDE HERE

Declaring that his resignation had nothing whatever to do with the present congressional investigation of the United States department of justice and the record of former Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty, former Governor Thomas W. Hardwick on Tuesday announced that he had resigned as special assistant to the attorney general of the United States and member of the advisory council of the department of justice.

The former Georgia governor pointed out that his letter of resignation was written on February 12, and asserted that he had tendered his resignation orally before the investigation began. He stated that private business interests and engagements made it necessary for him to retire and also said he was unwilling to give up his Georgia residence and locate permanently in Washington.

Mr. Hardwick also gave out a letter from Acting Attorney General James M. Beck, accepting the resignation and expressing regret over the circumstances which made it necessary.

"Until I am like the frog which croaks every night and is still alive in the morning, I am satisfied to remain on this side of the crossing until the train passes. Five minutes lost or gained will make very little difference 40 years from now.

"As for dangerous crossings, they do not exist; it is only the people who make them so."

Interest Growing As Opera Week Here Approaches

Bringing with it a list of operas which, for pure and certain popularity, bids fair to eclipse any previous season, the week of music which the Metropolitan Opera company will give to Atlanta, beginning next Monday night, fast approaches and with it the interest grows.

In "Il Trovatore," "Rigoletto," "Cavalleria Rusticana" and "Pagliacci," the festival offers four operas whose popularity is assured before they are sung, so familiar and beloved are they to music lovers of the south and the nation, so repeatedly have they been sung and called for with undiminished eagerness.

A personal element of interest was cast into the arena of discussion Tuesday when a telegram arrived from New York announcing that Madame Frances Alda, who will sing the title role in "Marta," the opening opera, will arrive in Atlanta Sunday, in order that she may have ample time for rest and recuperation from the long train trip before she undertakes the strenuous requirements of her role Monday evening. Madame Alda is the wife of Giulio Gatti-Cazazza, the Metropolitan impresario.

Madame Alda has been absent from local opera seasons for five years, but will be enthusiastically welcomed back by the scores of admirers won by her in previous conspicuous successes.

That ever precise indication of the popularity with which the season will be received, i. e., the box office, shows an unprecedented activity in the single seat sale, which began April 7 and still continues.

As in the seasons past, the afternoon performances (Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday) will begin at 2 o'clock, while the evening performances (Monday, Wednesday, Friday and Saturday) will start promptly at 8 o'clock. No person will be admitted to the auditorium after an opening has begun until the close of the act.

Description of Bonaventure Arms Apartment

The Bonaventure Arms Apartments, corner of Ponce de Leon Avenue and Bonaventure, is one of the latest additions to Atlanta's high-class apartment buildings, which will be ready for occupancy in the near future. It is another example of the successful designing of the architects, Raymond C. Snow & Company, who are specializing in apartments and hotels.

Carefully planned to meet all the requirements of the most up-to-date apartment building, it is arranged with six floors of housekeeping units and one floor devoted to bachelor quarters, with provisions for garages and storage rooms in the basement.

Every modern convenience has been provided in this building, and a special feature is the service arrangements, which allows the delivery of parcels during absence of the tenants.

The building is designed in a dignified Georgia style, which is well adapted for this type of building. The structure is of reinforced concrete, hollow tile, and brick, making a building entirely fireproof throughout.

Constitution Insurance Brings 40-Fold Return

Preparedness pays!

As witness the long list of people who have benefited or whose beneficiaries have been safeguarded against want by the two great Constitution insurance offers.

Here's another bit of evidence to add to the imposing array of proof that the wise man who has the well-being of his loved ones at heart will not fail to protect them with economical, efficient Constitution insurance. C. V. Collier, colored, of 167 Haywood avenue, Atlanta, was injured at Pryor and Garnett streets on February 2 when a street car struck the wagon in which he was riding, throwing him to the ground and injuring his back. He was disabled for nearly four weeks, and on April 12 received $37.14. This sum was paid him under the terms of the $1,000 Travel and Pedestrian Accident policy he held with The Constitution. For this he paid only $1 in addition to the annual subscription price of The Daily and Sunday Constitution. The policy provides protection to the extent of $1,000 against certain travel and pedestrian accidents, varying sums in case of injuries and $10 weekly indemnity for disability.

The other great Constitution protective offer is the $500 Group Reader Life Insurance offer—the only one of its kind offered by an Atlanta newspaper. It costs only 15 or 20 cents per week in addition to The Constitution subscription rate, depending on the risk involved by the insuring company.

Hundreds are constantly showing their thoughtfulness in behalf of their loved ones by securing protection under either one or both of these great offers. They will appeal to you. A letter, a visit or phone call to The Constitution's insurance department will bring you full and detailed information concerning them.

JAPANESE ARE WILLING TO RECOGNIZE RUSSIA

Peking, April 15.—Japan has expressed complete willingness to recognize the soviet government of Russia, according to reliable information received from Tokyo sources.

The Japanese government, it is learned, has instructed Minister Yoshizawa, its representative at Peking, to notify M. Karahan, soviet plenipotentiary, of this fact. Japan proposes to make certain concessions and also to make certain conditions. Recognition would be followed by a Russo-Japanese conference similar to the Anglo-Russian conference now under way in London.

The Japanese government has offered to evacuate Sakhalin Island, but demands the cancellation of the Sinclair oil contracts and the cession to Japan of Harbin and the Chang Chun section of the Chinese Eastern railroad.

The first page of The Constitution's grave section of last Sunday came to life for seven audiences at the Metropolitan theater Monday when a film, "Atlantian Astride," was flashed on the screen of the popular moving picture house at such performance.

The film, approximately 250 feet in length, was photographed by Tracy Mathewson, Constitution staff photographer, who also "snapped" the striking pictures of prominent Atlantians and their favorite mounts which appeared on the front page of last Sunday's Constitution grave section.

"I witnessed one of Monday night's showings," stated Sig Samuels, general manager of the Metropolitan,

JURORS ARE DRAWN FOR WHISKY PROBE

Mobile, Ala., April 15.—The summoning of 50 residents of this entire federal judicial district, comprising a special venire drawn under an order of Judge Robert T. Ervin of the federal court today, for the trial of the joint liquor conspiracy cases to be heard here April 28, will be started at once by forces of the United States marshal.

The jurors were drawn Tuesday afternoon, after the judge had denied motions of attorneys for several defendants for severance.

LAST SERVICE HELD FOR MRS. W. E. BARRON

Eufaula, Ala., April 15.—(Special.) Funeral services for Mrs. Willa Elridge Barron, 62, who died here Saturday night, were held Monday from the First Methodist church. Rev. W. R. Bickerstaff officiating. She was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Barron, of Eufaula, and the widow of the late Dr. R. B. Barron, for many years a prominent citizen of Macon.

For the past 10 years she had served as librarian for the Carnegie Library of Eufaula.

She is survived by a sister, Mrs. W. H. Grosscup, of Eufaula, and relatives at Macon.

MARKMAN ADDRESSES SAVANNAH ROTARIANS

Savannah, Ga., April 15.—After receiving an ovation when he was introduced to the Rotary club this afternoon, Edwin Markham, poet, read some of his quatrains, interspersing them with witticism. Among those short poems which he read were "Duty," "Preparedness," "Quitted," "To a Fireside," "Caution," "Egotism," "The Praise of Poverty."

Madame Lea Muntie read two of Mr. Markham's celebrated poems, "The Great College" and "How Jacques Kept His Bargain," the latter being a narrative of an incident in France.

HOW IS YOUR COLON TODAY?

Tell me how your colon is functioning and I will tell you how you feel, sleep and eat. If your colon is emptying itself freely, regularly and completely every day, you feel young, energetic and vigorous; sleep soundly and awake refreshed; eat with relish, enjoy your meals and digest thoroughly. If your colon is lazy and lacking in tone so that the poisonous matters are being retained and reabsorbed into your system, you feel nervous, irritable, weak, dyspeptic and prematurely old.

Colon poisoning (auto-intoxication) is the most common cause of chronic diseases and premature degeneration of the vital organs. Millions suffer without realizing how easily the cause can be removed. Tell your druggist to send you a bottle of Colotone—the colon tonic. It will quickly restore tone to the muscular walls of your colon. Your toxic condition will disappear and you will feel young, energetic and vigorous. Colotone removes the cause of constipation. Your druggist is instructed to refund the price, one dollar, if you are not thoroughly delighted with Colotone.—(adv.)

of the cases and had definitely fixed the date for the trial.

Decision to draw the jurors from both divisions for this trial was made by the court after an exciting session during which the argument of attorneys for the defense and the government over this point occasionally became bitter. Heretofore, jurors for service at Mobile have been drawn from the southern division only, and the defense lawyers wanted the policy followed in this case. The government attorneys argued that due to the number and prominence of the defendants in this case, that it would be practically impossible to find a member of the panel from Mobile county who did not have an interest of some kind in some of the persons on trial, and for this reason that no jurors should be drawn from this county.

More than 20 members of the Mobile bar, who represent the 71 various defendants charged jointly in this one case, participated in the argument over the district to be represented in the drawing of the jurors.

She Couldn't Live on $600 a Year

A woman we know was feeling sorry for a friend who had lost her husband. This friend had been obliged to sell her car and was now placing her house on the market.

"Too bad he didn't carry some insurance," remarked the woman.

"But he did," was the reply—" $10,000 worth. Trouble is, at 6 per cent $10,000 yields only $600 a year. And how in the world is Edith going to support herself and raise two children on $600 a year?"

"Gracious," exclaimed the woman; "that's all my husband carries—and I thought we were well protected!"

What about your wife and children?

In the space above write your name, age and address, tear out this advertisement, and place it in the mail. It will bring you full particulars of our monthly income plan—the kind of protection that protects the home.

"My Hair Was Quite Gray"

"Only a short time ago my hair was quite gray and becoming grayer. It was falling out. My scalp itched and dandruff appeared."

"Only a few applications of Kolor-Bak stopped the itching and dandruff. My hair soon stopped coming out. Most wonderful of all, however, is that my hair is again its original color. I look ten years younger. No wonder I'm so thankful for Kolor-Bak!"

(A typical letter)

Thousands have reported just such wonderful results as are told in the above words.

This clean, colorless liquid restores the original color to any gray hair—and the color is uniform. No faded, streaked or "dyed" appearance.

It also keeps the scalp free from dandruff and itching. Results often appear in a week.

Every scientist and physician knows that gray hair is hair that has ceased to receive its normal supply of coloring matter or pigment from certain tiny cells in the scalp because these cells have become inactive from age, illness or some other cause. No matter what the cause, it is amazing to see how the grayness disappears when Kolor-Bak is used. It is a proved substitute for the natural hair pigmentation.

Two-Pants Suits $37.50

The Newest Models

Thirty-seven fifty isn't an unusual price for two-pants suits, but it is for suits of this character. They would be a wonderful value at $37.50, if each suit had only one pair of trousers. Ordinarily we haven't been able to get suits with all the features of style, quality and fabric built into 'em with two pairs of pants to sell at a moderate price.

"Great stuff," say the men in our store. Tailoring---perfection! Style---the new English models, as well as plenty of two and three-button models. Fabric---superb! Value---immense!

Men will be glad to get suits of this character — glad to get them with two pairs of trousers. Glad to have such an elaborate variety to choose from. Plenty of those new English styles, the much sought-for loose, loungy full cut models of the season. Plenty of pin stripes, and plain blue serges, too. Lots of the new lighter shades—the powder blues, the stone grays, and so on.

By all odds the finest suit value in Atlanta. You positively can't duplicate them at this price. Let us prove this to you!

Our Usual Charge Courtesies

—If you haven't a charge account with us, open one. Ask your neighbor—he has one. We are adding the names of hundreds of men to our charge books every week. We are glad to have this means of becoming better acquainted with them.

CONSTITUTION

ATLANTA, GA.

Work is being rushed by the city sanitary department in an effort to throw an additional battery or at least a dozen new trash carts into the "Clean-up, Kleanup, Kleanup" campaign before the end of the week in order to have a nearly "trashless" city by Easter Sunday and the opening of grand opera week, it was made known Wednesday by John Jentzen, chief of the city sanitary department.

New garbage trucks purchased by the city as a step toward motorizing the sanitary department have been put on double-time for the first two days of the week in order to keep pace with the increased demand resulting from the clean-up drive.

Chief Jentzen asked Tuesday that residents pile all trash and rubbish in places easily accessible to collectors in order that all possible speed may be made in gathering it and getting it to trash dumps and incinerators. He voiced appreciation for the cooperation the department is receiving from all organizations and individuals participating in the clean-up.

The general advisory committee of the campaign, composed of the chairman of all subcommittees representing the 60 and more civic organizations participating, will hold its first meeting at luncheon at the Ansley hotel at 12:30 o'clock today. It was announced Tuesday by Fred Cowdrey, Jr., executive secretary of the committee. The subcommittees which already have begun active work are to report the progress made during the first three days and assignment of members in the campaign is to be made definitely to all organizations which had volunteered to help.

School Clean-Up Help.

Atlanta school children, nearly 50,000 in number, were launched actively into the fight Tuesday. Questionnaires which will furnish the basis for award of prizes to the most active schools and classes at the end of the first two weeks of the campaign were distributed to all the students, outlining 14 points of attack, centered on cleaning up homes, schools and streets adjacent to them.

W. V. Davis, chairman; Mrs. T. T. Stevens, vice chairman; Fred Cowdrey, secretary; Ben Watkins, Cator Woodford and Charles H. Cowdrey, Jr., executive secretary of the committee. The subcommittees which already have begun active work are to report the progress made during the first three days and assignment of members in the campaign is to be made definitely to all organizations which had volunteered to help.

THRILLING CHASE ENDS IN CAPTURE OF WHISKY CAR

A regular circus aerial stunt was performed in the dark hours of early Tuesday morning by Patrolman L. D. Portwood when he leaped from a speeding police car onto the running board of a high-powered machine which contained 97 gallons of whisky, and arrested the driver, who, the officer stated, was about to abandon the whisky car and escape. The car, which was a 1922 Ford, was driven by C. E. McCarty, "jumped" the whisky car at Piedmont and Ponce de Leon avenues, which was the best thing of the chase. McCarty was driving the machine while Portwood emptied his revolver into two rear wheels as the machine sped south on Piedmont avenue.

At Gilmer street the run out was over, after three unsuccessful attempts had been made to stop the car. One man had jumped out of the car and escaped. The driver gave his name as Andy Campbell, and his home as East Point.

PROPERTY OWNERS' INJUNCTION PLEA DENIED BY COURT

Holding that an apartment house is a residence, and therefore can be legally erected in a territory restricted by contract to residences, Judge E. D. Thomas denied a temporary injunction in Fulton superior court Tuesday to prevent erection of an apartment building at Peachtree road and Milledge avenue.

Work on the building had already started under supervision of Ross Hunter, local builder, for Mrs. June Regenstein, when Mrs. June Courtney, Mrs. Charlotte Green Adams, Marvin L. Throver and P. H. Adams petitioned for an injunction, contending the section affected had been restricted to dwelling houses ordinarily understood as detached houses. They contended that an apartment house did not come within the limitation. Judge Thomas held that by virtue of the fact apartments are used primarily, if not exclusively, as homes, such buildings are dwellings. Objections had been raised on the ground that apartment houses tend to congestion, besides destroying a residential atmosphere.

RAIN PREDICTED Showers Today, But Fair Thursday.

Although the showers predicted for Tuesday came so early in the morning that none but early risers had first-hand evidence that the weather man's predictions were correct, rain is again forecast for Wednesday.

C. F. von Herrmann, in charge of the local office of the United States weather bureau, referred to light showers late Monday night and early Tuesday morning as carrying out his Monday prediction. He also pointed to the cloudy skies Tuesday, through which the sun broke now and then. Similar weather is scheduled for Wednesday, he said.

On Thursday, official baseball opening day, speaking locally, fair weather is expected. This is important news to the 20,000 or more fans who are expected to throng Spiller park that afternoon.

Temperatures are running about normal for this time of the year. The mercury climbed above 70 Tuesday afternoon. Monday it touched the 75 degree mark and, at 7 o'clock Tuesday morning had not dropped below 58. It may be a trifle cooler Wednesday morning early.

A. M. E. CONFERENCE BEGINS THURSDAY

The Monticello District conference of the African Methodist Episcopal church will convene Thursday morning at Covington, Georgia. Rev. John Harmon, presiding elder, will make the opening address, outlining the work for the five-day session. The different pastors will make their reports as to conditions of their districts. Rev. R. R. Holmes, president of the regional address, Rev. R. H. Ward, W. J. Williams, C. G. Gray, J. T. Hall and others will speak on the condition of the colored people in the south.

Elks To Render Opera Foretaste Wednesday Night

Atlanta opera enthusiasts will be offered Wednesday evening at the auditorium, through the Atlanta Lodge of Elks and the Elks' Troubadours, a foretaste of grand opera as a prelude to the Metropolitan season, which opens next Monday night.

Selections from most of the popular arias of the operas to be given next week by the Metropolitan company, will be sung by the Elks' Troubadours under direction of Signor Emilio Volpi.

In the operatic to be given Wednesday evening, to which no admission fee will be charged, will be included such well-known arias as the duet from "Faust," the demand from "Rigoletto," the scene from "Lucia," the "Miserere" chorus and scene from "Il Trovatore," and a number of other selections. An invitation will be presented in a set of real anvil, in order that the "Anvil Chorus" may be portrayed in its full reality.

Among those to take part in the operatic will be: Nora Allen, lyric soprano, formerly a member of the Chicago Grand Opera company; Emily Watts, coloratura soprano; Frances Russo, dramatic soprano; Lillian Dove, mezzo soprano; John Hinton, Sam Calloway, Fred B. Fuller and John C. Cowdrey, baritone; Denny and W. R. Lehman, baritone; and W. W. Hume, Jr., and William Van Goldsnoyen, basses.

The first performance will begin promptly at 8:30 o'clock.

DIRECTORS INCREASE RAILROAD DIVIDENDS

Semi-annual dividends of both the Atlanta and West Point railway and the Western Railway of Alabama were increased to three and one-half per cent by action of the board of directors at the annual meeting of stockholders and directors, held Tuesday afternoon at the offices, 120 East Hunter street. The dividends, which total $189,000, will be divided among holders of 24,000 shares of the Atlanta and West Point stock, and 30,000 shares of Western of Alabama stock.

Reports of both roads showed a prosperous year, and the decrease in net income of the Western of Alabama was attributed to extensive improvement work.

Gross income of the Atlanta and West Point for 1923 was $743,000, as compared with $594,000 for the previous year. The net income for 1923 was $349,000, an increase of $72,000 over the $277,000 figure of 1922. The road carried a credit balance to profit and loss amounting to $220,000.

The net income of the Western of Alabama for 1923 was $392,000, a decrease of $53,000 from $445,000, the figure set in 1922. However, the credit balance remaining was $1,727,000. Capital stock of the Western of Alabama is $3,000,000, and that of the Atlanta and West Point, which is controlled by the Western of Alabama, is $2,436,000.

All officers and directors of both roads were re-elected. Charles A. Wickersham being named president and treasurer of the Atlanta and West Point, and W. H. Bruce as secretary and treasurer.

The following were re-elected directors of the Atlanta and West Point: Charles A. Wickersham, of Atlanta; J. Walters, of New York city, chairman of the board of the Atlanta and West Point; W. L. Mapother, of Louisville, president of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad; L. A. Townes, of Savannah, president of the Central of Georgia Railway; K. R. Brown, of Savannah, vice president of the Central of Georgia; Captain J. W. English, of Atlanta, and H. C. Fisher, of Newnan.

The board of directors of the Western of Alabama consists of the same personnel, with the exception of Captain English and Mr. Fisher, whose places are taken by R. T. Renfro, of Montgomery, and N. T. Renfro, of Opelika, Ala.

Rural Negro Schools Of Georgia To Get Share Of Big Fund

The sum of $20,500 is Georgia's portion of the half-dollar fund established for rural negro schools, it was announced Tuesday by S. L. Smith, general field agent for the United States department of education, at a dispatch received by the Atlanta office.

North Carolina receives $72,500; Mississippi, $56,500; and South Carolina, $50,000 for the same purpose. Smith stated that the fund is to be disbursed through the respective state departments of education.

The fund is to be used for the construction of new schools, the purchase of land, the purchase of equipment, and the purchase of supplies for the schools.

The fund is to be used for the construction of new schools, the purchase of land, the purchase of equipment, and the purchase of supplies for the schools.

Aeroplanes in World Tour Off on 450-Mile Leg Through Alaska

Vancouver, B. C., April 15.—Four American planes on a trip around the world left Seward, Alaska, for Chignik, Alaska, at 10:10 o'clock this morning, Seward time, according to a dispatch received by the Atlanta office.

A Major Martin, the leader, had waited from 7 o'clock for reports to indicate that the route to Chignik, 450 miles to the west, had passable weather.

The air was clear and luminous as the flyers rose from Resurrection bay and a light wind was blowing.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR MRS. E. L. HART

Funeral services for Mrs. E. L. Hart, well-known woman of Lake wood drive, who died Sunday at the residence, were held at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon from the chapel of C. J. Holleran & Co., 120 East Hunter street. Burial will be in the College Park cemetery.

She is survived by her husband, Eugene L. Hart, assistant traffic manager for the Atlanta Freight bureau; one daughter, Eugene L. Hart, Jr.; two sons, Eugene L. Hart, Jr. and Eugene L. Hart, Jr.; and two brothers, Frank and C. D. Hart.

MONEY AT WORK

Brief But Important Lessons in Finance, Markets, Stocks, Bonds and Investments.

INVESTMENTS A LONG WAY OFF USUALLY NOT AS GOOD AS LOCAL INVESTMENTS

As a general rule it is a good thing to invest in the securities of corporations close enough home to keep your eye on the business to a certain extent. There are exceptions, of course, to all rules.

The man who has just put his money into a penny grove in a distant state and begs of you to taste one of the nuts to prove their lusciousness may have a good investment, but the man who owns a block of stock in the light and power company that operates in his own locality and supplies the light by which he reads his daily paper is likely to receive dividends while the other receives his sample bag of nuts yearly.

Money invested in local industries and enterprises can be more easily watched. You have a chance to know the value of the companies' properties, the extent and nature of their competition, if any, and most of all, the character of the management of the business.

Mrs. Richardson To Decline Second Term as Club Head

Mrs. Alonzo Richardson, president of the Atlanta Woman's club and director for Georgia of the national organization, will not be a candidate for reelection as head of the local club, according to her announcement made at the regular meeting Monday.

It had been expected that Mrs. Richardson would be president for a second term, but she stated that on account of certain matters that had come up she would not stand for reelection.

Mrs. Charles Goodman, who had announced for the position of second vice president, withdrew her candidacy, stating that she was forced to retire as a result of poor health.

A nominating committee of five, named in February, will present its report on officers for the next term at the next general meeting of the club on April 28, and the election of officers will take place at the succeeding general meeting, May 12.

Mrs. Howard Trimpi Is Feted Visitor.

Mrs. Howard Trimpi, of Glendale, N. J., who is visiting her sister, Mrs. George Walker, at the Georgian Terrace, was the honor guest at a bridge-tee given by Mrs. Martin Dunbar at her home in the Della Manta apartments on Tuesday.

A profusion of spring flowers were used in decorating the rooms. The tea table was adorned with Dresden shaded flowers.

Mrs. Dunbar wore a gown of lavender chiffon.

Mrs. Trimpi wore an afternoon frock of black marquisette over white satin.

Mrs. Livingston Wright will be hostess at an informal bridge-luncheon on Saturday in compliment to Mrs. Trimpi.

Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. Walker will entertain for Mrs. Trimpi at the formal opening of the Biltmore hotel. Completing the party will be Mr. and Mrs. Chivers, William Lawson Peel and Senator Metcalf.

Sunday evening Mr. and Mrs. Louis Newell will entertain at a buffet supper, complimentary to Mrs. Trimpi and Senator Metcalf.

On Monday evening, following the opera, "Marta," Mr. and Mrs. Walker will entertain at the Capital City club in honor of Mrs. Trimpi and Senator Metcalf, of Washington, who arrives Sunday to be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Walker during opera week.

Mrs. J. V. McCrary will entertain a group of friends at the barbeque at Druid Hills golf club on Wednesday, April 23, in honor of Mrs. Trimpi.

Dance Series To Be At Club de Vingt.

An announcement of interest to the younger and college crowd is that of a series of dances, one to be given each Friday, beginning April 18, at the Club de Vingt, Third and Peachtree streets. Invitations have been sent to the fraternities at the various schools throughout the city and to the members of the younger and college sets.

The chaperons for the occasion will include the parents of several of the younger ladies to be present. Dancing will be enjoyed from 9 until 1 o'clock.

"Homestead" Thronged as Dr. and Mrs. Connally Celebrate Golden Wedding Anniversary

The golden wedding anniversary of Dr. and Mrs. E. L. Connally was celebrated Tuesday afternoon at an elaborate reception at the "Homestead," the handsome old Connally home in West End, assembling as large and brilliant company of southern society as ever gathered to pay tribute at a social function in Atlanta.

Dr. and Mrs. Connally were at home to their friends from 4 to 7 o'clock, receiving the best wishes of many relatives and countless friends throughout the south, the occasion marking an epoch in the social history of the state and adding another chapter to the famous hospitality of the "Homestead."

The old-fashioned mansion was adorned for the lovely occasion with a great profusion of the choicest spring blossoms. Roses, hyacinths, daffodils, tulips, sweet peas, carnations and lilies, all in shades of gold, were lavishly used in effective array throughout the whole of the lower floor which was opened to the guests. Tributes of love and esteem were beautifully expressed in gorgeous bouquets and exquisite designs of flowers, sent by numbers of friends who value beyond measure the friendship of the beloved couple. Such expressions were sent by the executive board of the Georgia Baptist hospital, the Georgia Baptist Orphans' home, the Joseph E. Brown Junior High school and the Missionary society of the Second Baptist church, all of which organizations Dr. and Mrs.

Connally have been closely identified with in a beneficial way.

Among other lovely tokens was a letter "L" fashioned completely of handsome golden tulips, and bearing a touch of charming sentiment.

Receiving Line.

Dr. and Mrs. Connally received the guests in the spacious "front parlor," in the line being their sons and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. John S. Spalding, Mr. and Mrs. H. Warner Martin and Mr. and Mrs. Hal Hentz, Thomas Whipple Connally, their granddaughters, Miss Mary Brown Spalding, Miss Constance Schaffner Spalding, Miss Frances Connally Spalding, Miss Sally

Mrs. Woolford's Dinner To Honor Business Girls' Y. W. Committee

One of the social events of this evening will be Mrs. Guy Woolford's dinner at her residence in Druid Hills that will honor the Y. W. C. A. young business girls' committee. The hostess is chairman of the business girls' division of the "Y" industrial department. Her committee includes Miss Mary Phelps, Mrs. A. W. Richards, Miss Mary Mendenhall, Miss Ethel Moore, Mrs. George Halpin, Mrs. Coley Lewis, Mrs. Karl Brittain, Mrs. M. L. Brittain, Mrs. Fred Patterson, Miss Ollie Haines, Miss Ethel Reese, Miss Lura Belle Robinson, Miss Caroline Thomas, Miss Orgia Skinner, Mrs. Colvin, Mrs. Elzabelle Goss and Miss Julia Walker.

Atlanta's leading organizations are represented in the personnel of the committee. Besides the social features of the evening, the committee will discuss matters of interest to the young business girls of the association. A work of special emphasis in the club federation of the Y. W. C. A. at present is a plan to extend the activities at the club meetings every Thursday evening to girls in large offices. Sixteen offices have been selected and letters sent to the managers outlining the plans of the federation. This plan will be discussed this evening by the committee.

In the beginning of the first year of service as a Y. W. C. A. director, Mrs. Woolford had her committee meet for luncheon at the Y. W. C. A. Peachtree Arcade, but the time of the noon hour for busy women and business girls caused the chairman to call the meetings in the evenings at her residence, where more time is given for discussions that bear directly upon the young business women of Atlanta.

SOCIAL ITEMS

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Gonzales are in Charleston, S. C., where they are registered at the Frances Marion. They will visit Magnolia Gardens.

Mrs. Harry Chamberlin and her sister, Miss Katherine DuBois, are in Charleston, S. C., to see the famous Magnolia gardens.

Mrs. S. B. Furman has returned from a 10 days' business trip to New York city.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris Markey are visiting Mrs. Markey's mother, Mrs. S. B. Turman, at Hexagon hall and will later be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. I. G. Markey at their home on St. Charles avenue.

Mrs. Everard Richardson will entertain the members of her sewing club Thursday afternoon at her home on East Fifteenth street in compliment to Mrs. Parham, the attractive guest of Mrs. Malcolm Fleming.

Misses Olive Gardner and Eben Baldwin, who are students at Agnes Scott college, will spend opera week with their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Edward K. McDowell, at their home on Peachtree street. They are members of the younger society set in Montgomery, Ala.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas M. Bryan, of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., are the guests of their sister, Mrs. J. R. Ellis, of Piedmont avenue.

Tech Glee Club

To Give Concert.

Tech Glee and Mandolin club will give a concert at the Atlanta theater Saturday evening, April 19. Each of the fraternities represented at Tech will occupy a row of seats at the performance, and many parties are planned after the show. As Tech is also the opening night of the Biltmore hotel, many of the parties will be held there.

The glee club performance this year will be largely an Atlanta production, since over a third of the members are Atlanta boys. The leader of the Mandolin club, Will Spalding, has recently made quite a name for himself as a golfer, taking part in all the Tech matches held so far this year. There are also four other Atlanta boys on the Mandolin club, M. W. Leonard, Ed. Walcott, W. E. Dunn and Mack Wynn. The vice president and leading comedian of the club, Bert MacIntyre, is an Atlanta. In the present show he has many opportunities to air his ability to amuse. The leading tenor of the club, who is being named by people versed in musical circles as the coming tenor of the south, George Butler, also claims Atlanta for his home. Jacket Four, the famous Tech quartet, besides being a member of the Yellow ter, he will be heard in "Linger Awhile," "Midnight Rose," and other favorites, as a soloist. Atlanta is represented in the orchestra by Harry Street, H. P. Monger, H. Siegel, Ed. Thompson. Other members on the club from Atlanta are Arthur Edge, Al Holder, one of the female impersonators who has done much to make the club's trips a success; Don Keller and Muggsy Smith.

Mrs. Perry wore black satin. Mrs. Adair's gown was of beige crepe de Chine.

The guests included a large number of the young married social contingent of Atlanta.

Birthday Party Is Postponed.

Invitations that were to be issued to the birthday party of little Miss Tommie Perkins on Friday afternoon, April 18, have been delayed on account of the illness of the little honor guest. The party has been postponed until a later date.

Euzelian Class To Meet Today.

The regular monthly business meeting of the Euzelian class of the Third Baptist church will be held this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. F. A. Miller, 269 Holderness street.

Luncheon Given

Mrs. Charles Dana.

Mrs. Charles Dana was the honor guest at an elaborate luncheon given by Mrs. Hunter Perry and Mrs. Frank Adair at the Piedmont Driving club on Tuesday.

Spring flowers were used in profusion throughout the clubhouse and Easter lilies in a silver basket were a lovely decoration in the center of the table.

Mrs. Dana wore a model of gray chiffon.

Mrs. Perry wore black satin. Mrs. Adair's gown was of beige crepe de Chine.

The guests included a large number of the young married social contingent of Atlanta.

National D. A. R. Officers Hold Great Reception

Washington, April 15.—The Daughters of the American Revolution concluded the second day's business of their thirty-third continental congress tonight with one of the principal social events of the occasion, the reception of the president-general and national officers. Continental Memorial hall was thronged with several thousand delegates and alternates. The national officers were assisted by the state regents.

Official colors were adopted by the society today to provide uniform usage at all functions in which the society and its chapters participate. The proposal for a more spacious auditorium in Washington was put forward to be reported upon at next year's congress. The present auditorium is considered inadequate for the future.

A reception at the white house by the president and Mrs. Coolidge tomorrow afternoon will mark the third day's program.

A resolution providing for the official colors of the society a flag with three vertical stripes, blue, white and blue, with the insignia of the society centered on the white stripe, was adopted by the congress.

A resolution presented by Mrs. Howard H. McCall, of Atlanta, and referred to the resolutions committee, provided that there be submitted to the thirty-fourth congress next year plans for an auditorium in Washington suitable for seating delegates from the increasing membership.

The Maine society presented a resolution to place the national society on record as being interested in the memorial to Major General Henry Knox, Washington's chief of artillery and afterward secretary of war.

D. A. R. Delegates At Congress In Washington

The Georgia delegation to the Continental Congress, D. A. R., being held in Washington, D. C., were entertained at a delightful dinner Sunday evening at the New Willard hotel. Many of the Georgia delegates are stopping at the New Willard this year, as this is Georgia headquarters.

Among those present were Mrs. Howard H. McCall, vice president general; Mrs. Charles A. McCall, state regent; Mrs. Julius Talmadge, Athens, vice regent; Mrs. Paul Tramell, Sr., Dalton, vice regent; Mrs. embassy also is silent. John M. Slaton, Mrs. James L. Logan, Miss Lillian Tidwell, Mrs. Bun Wylie, Mrs. Thomas Mell, Mrs. John B. Roberts, Mrs. Bernard Wolfe, Mrs. Walter S. Coleman, Mrs. B. C. Ward, Mrs. R. K. Rambo, Mrs. H. G. Shorer, all of Atlanta; Mrs. Z. W. Oglesby, Quitman; Mrs. John R. Whitehead, of Albany; Mrs. O. C. Bullock, of Columbus; Miss Minnie Bullock, of Columbus.

Among others present were Mrs. William J. Harris, Washington; Mrs. Theodore Tiller, Washington; Mrs. Everest Sewell, vice president general from Florida; Mrs. James Craig, vice president general, state regent, of Florida; and Mrs. Benjamin Heath, vice president general from North Carolina.

Mrs. Frank Pond Entertained at Tea.

Mrs. Frank B. Pond entertained informally at tea on Tuesday afternoon at her home on McDonough street in honor of her sister, Miss Etelka Weiss, who is her guest en route to South America.

A purple and white color scheme was carried out. The tea table was covered with an exquisite baby Irish cloth, and had as a centerpiece a silver bowl of violets. Hyacinths, violets, Easter lilies and dogwood were used most artistically in decorating the reception rooms.

Mrs. Rupert Hall, of Atlanta, poured tea.

Miss Weiss wore a gown of black crepe, bouffant, and trimmed in black, blue and rose ribbon.

Mrs. Pond was gowning in a sleeveless model of green georgette with a draped skirt.

The Half-Time Wife

BY VIOLET DARE

CHAPTER XV. One More Rebuke.

Suzanne found the "delightful stuff from Paris" quite as beguiling as Ann had prophesied that it would be. She lost her heart to a pair of earrings and a necklace that matched them; it seemed to her, as she studied her reflection in a small glass, that they were the most becoming things she had ever had on.

"They make me look so different; so much older," she explained to Anne. "I want to look blase and sophisticated, and I've never been able to manage it till now. Don't you love them?"

"Oh, they're gorgeous. And really awfully cheap—only two hundred and fifty dollars, and they're real crystal and jet. That's frightfully cheap."

"Yes, I suppose it is," Suzanne replied slowly. Before she married Geoffrey Atwood she had never had much money to spend without being questioned about it; her allowance was always checked up at the end of each month. And since marrying him she had felt that she had everything in the world, and had always had more than she wanted. But two hundred and fifty dollars—wasn't that a good deal?

"Of course it is; go ahead and take them quick. You know, Suzanne, if you're wise you'll dress well no matter what else you do, for that husband of yours loves to see women well-gowned. I never saw anything like him. He always knows what you have on. I've often teased him about his appreciation of women's clothes. And you've certainly noticed how well Mrs. Vale, his secretary, always dresses, haven't you? Personally, I think that's why he keeps her. Nobody can tell me that she's as useful to him as everybody says she is; he's too clever a man to lean on any woman to that extent."

She stopped suddenly. Suzanne's intuition told her that Anne Graham had said more than she meant to.

"But these things really are rather high, you know," she cut in, hoping Anne would think that the necklace had held her attention all the time. "I really don't believe Geoff would want me to pay so much for them."

"With fiddlesticks! Doesn't he give you an allowance? Never mind; don't answer—that's none of my business. But Geoffrey Atwood is one of the richest men in town, and if he can't afford to buy his wife the prettiest things I've ever seen her wear, why, I'll buy them for her myself."

"Oh no—no!" exclaimed Suzanne. "All have them! Anne, please! I needn't have hesitated, only—well, you know how a person sometimes has a sudden attack of economy."

"Don't ever have such attacks when you're buying something that's going to make you prettier for your husband to look at!" ordered Miss Graham, majestically. "Now come on; put your hat on again, and let's go to luncheon."

"Of course," reflected Suzanne as she followed Anne out of the shop.

"It isn't as if Geoff didn't have heaps of money; it isn't as if we tomed to having her own way about everything."

"Two hundred and fifty dollars is cheap!" exclaimed Anne, were poor. And he does like me to look nice! She was trying to keep her mind off Anne's remarks about Mrs. Vale.

After all, why should Linda Vale be so all-important to Geoff? Anne had been quite right; a man as clever as he was didn't need any woman in his business as much as Mrs. Vale seemed to think Geoff needed her.

And that phone message—why hadn't Geoff written to her? "Perhaps he has!" The thought ran through her mind like an electric shock. She turned to Anne quickly.

"I don't believe I can lunch with you after all," she exclaimed. "I'll meet you later for the matinee, but I must rush home first; there's something awfully important that I've forgotten."

"Nonsense—you can phone about it," replied Anne, who was accusing her. "I'll be home in time to see you after the matinee, but I must rush home first; there's something awfully important that I've forgotten."

Miss Hough and Miss Lucas Speak at Girl Scout Meeting

A number of interesting reports and talks were made at the regular meeting of the Girl Scout captains on Monday afternoon at Scout headquarters on Marietta street.

Miss Dorris Hough, regional director of nine southeastern states, is in Atlanta for the week and was present at the meeting. She made a most entertaining talk in which she described Camp Juliette Lowe and its possibilities for a good time for girls. She also gave some excellent pointers about hikes, and the sort of activities which should be incorporated in hikes.

"Do not merely go for a walk; stop a bit, and cook dinner," said Miss Hough. "Have some definite plans for your activities on the hike. Nature study, careful observation of trees and flowers are both good. It is also profitable to collect flowers, or stones or something of the sort."

Another interesting talk was given by Miss Mary Lucas, children's librarian at Carnegie. "I am deeply interested in the importance of holding the attention of a child by the dramatic touch in a story," said Miss Lucas. "It is almost essential to a good story to have that touch and to play upon it well. You will find the child will listen more closely, remember more correctly and be more interested when the story is told with dramatic force."

Mrs. Harvey L. Parry, director, made the announcement that next week will be forest protection week. "I want all troops to observe this week," she said. "Beginning April 21, through April 27, each troop can do some small thing to show at least an inclination to observe this work."

It was decided at this meeting that the attendance banner be awarded at every rally, instead of twice yearly as heretofore. The rallies are held about four or five times a year, and the troop having the best attendance at one rally keeps the banner until the next.

Troop 4, Miss Jane Ginn, captain, won the banner for attendance at the recent health carnival. Forty-three girls were present, making the troop 100 per cent.

gown, fashioned of ivory satin in the style of long ago, trimmed with narrow point applique lace, the satin puffed and shirred, and forming a long train. She carried a wedding bouquet of valley lilies, snowed with the lilies, and having in the center a symbolic "heart of gold," this made of Lady Hillingdon roses. This bouquet was a gift from the youngest daughter, Mrs. Hal Hentz, formerly Miss Frances Connolly, this privilege being given her as Tuesday was her wedding anniversary.

Handsome Costumes.

Mrs. Spaulding was gowned in yellow georgette crepe trimmed in point applique lace, and her corsage bouquet was of lavender sweetpeas.

Mrs. Warner Martin wore a yellow georgette crepe headed in pearls and crystals and her flowers were lilies of the valley and orchids.

Mrs. Hentz was also gowned in the same golden color, her gown of georgette crepe headed in crystal and her corsage bouquet was of lilies of the valley and orchids.

Miss Mary Brown Spaulding wore a gown of white and gold lace, becomingly fashioned with a large golden disc at the girdle.

Miss Constance Spaulding was gowned in a chiffon robe with iridescent tangles made over gold cloth.

Miss Frances Spaulding's gown was of gold chiffon embroidered in golden beads.

Miss Sally Spaulding was gowned in yellow crepe and lace.

Little Miss Elizabeth Spaulding wore a handsome frock of white tulle which was the duplicate of the gown worn by Miss Sally Brown, who was of her exact age when she waited on her sister, Miss Mary Brown, at her wedding to Dr. Connolly. The skirt was ruffled and garlanded with pink roses, the bodice having an old-fashioned bertha of thread lace. This dainty maiden carried a small, old-fashioned bouquet of violets and lilies held in a silver holder which was used by Mrs. Connolly when she was a belle of Georgia.

Miss Sally Brown, who was a bridesmaid at the wedding, wore an exquisite gown fashioned of handsome white lace.

Mrs. Clarke's gown was of black crepe de chine, elaborately embroidered in jet, and her flowers were lavender sweet peas in corsage effect.

On the occasion of the marriage 50 years ago Mrs. Clarke wore a gown of white cross grain silk combined with white satin and richly trimmed with rare and priceless Duchess lace.

Marriage Service.

At 5:30 o'clock Brooks Mell, nephew of the bride and groom, played softly Mendelssohn's wedding march, and Dr. Carter Helm Jones, of the Second Baptist church, pastor of the bride and groom, read a part of the marriage service which had been used at the wedding of Dr. and Mrs. Connolly and the marriage of their daughter, Miss Mary Brown Connolly, to John S. Spaulding, Miss Sally Connolly to H. Warner Martin, and Miss Frances Connolly to Hal Hentz. After this a prayer was offered by Dr. Jones.

Punch was served in the punch room from bowls embedded in April flowers. Serving punch were Mrs. Elijah Brown, sister of the "Bride," and her niece, Miss Corrie Hoy Brown, and Miss Katherine Erwin, of Asheville, N. C., and Miss Fannie Sue Bailey, great niece of the "groom."

Mrs. Brown wore a becoming gown of chiffon and lace.

Miss Corrie Hoy Brown wore an imported model of batiste shading from green-gold to gold with a girdle of gold ribbon.

Miss Erwin's gown was of beaded lavender chiffon, and Miss Bailey wore a gown of rose-colored georgette crepe. Mrs. Marcus Erwin, of Asheville, N. C., was gowned in black lace.

Wedding Cake.

The chief feature of the decorations in the dining room was an immense wedding cake, a gift of love and esteem from Woods White, prominent Atlanta and life-long friend of the Connolly family. The exquisitely fashioned cake, placed on the side board, was built in tiers and surmounted the top was a miniature figure dressed in an old-fashioned model of gold ruffled tulle and holding a miniature bouquet of golden flowers. Tiny golden baskets overflowing with small yellow roses further adorned the tiers which were embellished in roses and lilies of the valley.

Prominent Guests.

Prominent among the out-of-town guests was Howard Fullenwider, of Birmingham, Ala., who served in the same regiment overseas with the late Captain Joseph Brown Connolly, son of Dr. and Mrs. Connolly, and as popular and beloved a figure as ever lived. Captain Connolly made a splendid record overseas, being beyond the age limit when he entered the training camp at Fort McPherson and died from results of illness contracted during the war.

Among the out-of-town guests for the anniversary were Mrs. Laura Boyd, of Savannah, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. William Montague Boyd; Mrs. Marcus Erwin and Miss Katherine Erwin, of Asheville, N. C.; the guests of Dr. and Mrs. Connolly; Mrs. Annie Brown Loring, of Seneca, S. C.; with Mrs. Oze Horton; Mrs. O. E. Mitchell, of San Francisco, Cal.; formerly of Atlanta, and Dr. and Mrs. Jeff Davis, of Toconoco, with friends; Miss Helen Kendrick, of Cincinnati, Ohio, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Alex W. Smith; Mr. and Mrs. John Ross and Misses Boston, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Brown and Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Brown, of Marietta; Linton Dean, of Rome, Ga., and his sister, Mrs. Sanford, of Asheville, N. C.; Miss Mary Brown Spaulding and Miss Constance Spaulding, students at Randolph-Macon college, who will remain for the Easter holidays.

The 16th of April is also the eighth anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Hal Hentz. Every year the Brown family celebrate this day, as it is the birthday of former Governor of Georgia and United States Senator Joseph E. Brown, born 1821. Mrs. Connolly's father, and of her brother, Frank P. Brown.

A bit of sentiment connected with the wedding celebration was the writing of a poem by Mrs. Charles N. Davis, entitled "The Sweetest Story Ever Told to Dr. and Mrs. E. L. Connolly." This poem Mrs. Davis presented, beautifully embossed and framed, to the hosts of the occasion.

Estimated Citizens.

Dr. and Mrs. Connolly occupy a place in the hearts of Atlantans that will always remain truly their own. They have been keenly interested in every movement toward the uplift of the social, religious, civic and cultural life of the city.

Mrs. Connolly is a "Lucy Cobb girl," and during her young girlhood was a belle in the south. She has been a member of the board of trustees of the Georgia Baptist Orphan's home for twenty-five years and is secretary of the board.

She is very active in the work for the Georgia Baptist hospital, and in the work at the Second Baptist church, of which she is one of the oldest members in point of service.

Mrs. Connolly has always been very active in patriotic work, being a member of the Daughters of the American Revolution, the United Daughters of the Confederacy, the Daughters of 1812, and the War Mothers of Fulton County, her son, the late Captain Joseph Brown Connolly, having made the supreme sacrifice for his country.

Dr. Connolly is probably the oldest citizen of Atlanta in point of residence. He was born in Florida county, near Rome. He was nursed by two Indian chiefs, for at that period the Cherokee Indians lived in north Georgia. His parents moved to Atlanta when he was six years old. Dr. Connolly served as assistant surgeon in the First Confederate regiment, composed of men from Mississippi and Georgia. He is a deacon in the Second Baptist church, and is a most earnest and faithful church worker.

Miss DeJarnette To Be Honored By Mrs. LeCraw

A beautiful party of Tuesday afternoon will be the bridge-tee given by Mrs. Charles LeCraw at her home in Peachtree Highlands in compliment to Miss Annie DeJarnette, a bride-elect of April 30.

Assisting the hostess in entertaining will be Mrs. R. S. Morris, Mrs. C. V. LeCraw, Mrs. C. W. Asbury and Mrs. J. F. DeJarnette.

Invited to meet the attractive honoree are Mrs. Russell Baker, Mrs. Warren Noel, Mrs. Walter LeCraw, Mrs. Russell Beutell, Mrs. Nick Anderson, Mrs. Jack Short, Mrs. Margaret, Mrs. James Ahearn, Mrs. J. T. Hines, Mrs. Roy Booker, of Gaffney, S. C.; Mrs. Samuel Hodges, Mrs. Herbert Lubs, of Wilmington, Del.; Mrs. Thornton Comer, Miss Martha Asbury, Miss Jessie DeJarnette.

Baptist Church
To Give Cantata.

The choir of the Ponce de Leon Avenue Baptist church will sing the beautiful Easter cantata, "The Paschal Victor," by J. Sebastian Matthes next Sunday night. The hour of the service is 7:30 o'clock, and the public is invited.

Members of the choir include Mrs. S. B. Johnson, soprano; Mrs. James H. Whitten, alto; A. W. Browning, tenor, and Russell E. Dale, baritone.

Mrs. Robert Quin
To Give Easter Party.

A children's party will be given by Mrs. Robert Quin at her home on West Eleventh street in celebration of the sixth birthday of her little daughter, Tommie, on Friday afternoon.

Mrs. John A. Perdue will assist Mrs. Quin in entertaining.

Easter games will feature the occasion.

Home Economics Classes Hold Lovely Fashion Show

Novelties of every variety were displayed at the Atlanta Woman's club Tuesday afternoon when the home economics department of the club held a fashion show and interior decoration exhibit.

Mrs. Zola Smith won first prize for the most beautiful hat made under the guidance of the vocational class instructor; the hat was of black straw braid and silk, and was worn by Mrs. W. B. Price-Smith. Miss Mary Hoppood won second prize for the best made hat; the hat was worn by Mrs. T. G. Delph. Mrs. White of the Tech class won first prize for the best made-over hat and Mrs. George Robertson won second.

Mrs. H. B. Cummings was lovely in a rose dress and hat, winning the special prize for the most beautiful costume made and worn by a member of the class. Mrs. Lorenz, Mrs. Covington and Miss Atkinson also wore beautiful hats, which received honorable mention. Mrs. T. R. Allen wore the beautiful model, which was auctioned off, for the scholarship fund of the department and made by the class.

Mrs. Delph Congratulated.

The novelties placed on exhibit in the banquet hall were most beautiful and Mrs. T. G. Delph, who is chairman of the vocational classes of the home economics department, is to be congratulated upon the splendid results of the training. Among the articles shown were baskets, lamp shades, trays, candlesticks, pictures, scarfs, dresses, fire screen, etc.

The prize won for the most artistic gesso work was awarded to Mrs. James T. Williams; honorable mention was given Mrs. Johnston. Mrs. Walter Harlan won the prize for basketry; Mrs. Bessie Smith had honorable mention. In the tie and tie contest, Mrs. Jessup won the prize for an exquisite scarf and Mrs. H. B. Cummings had honorable mention. Miss Lillian Williamson carried off the prize for the loveliest lamp shade and Mrs. Johnston's work was praised. In novelty painting, Mrs. Hoyt Sutton's was considered the best and Mrs. W. H. Melton had honorable mention. Mrs. W. E. Foster won in Batik work and Mrs. Poundstone's articles were given mention.

Judges of Contest.

The judges for the contest were Mrs. Almona Richardson, Mrs. Norman Sharp, Mrs. W. B. Price-Smith, Mrs. Norman Poole, Mrs. Wilmer Moore, Mrs. John R. Hornady, Mrs. J. M. Manry, Mrs. J. A. Carlisle.

Professor Willis Sutton added much to the occasion as in his genial way he auctioned off the articles which were for sale and announced the various prizes. Following the contest and fashion show a pleasant social hour was enjoyed. Punch was served by the following young ladies: Miss Willene Carlisle, Miss Eileen McKinney, Mrs. M. M. Albright, Miss Florence Ohear, Miss Reese and Mrs. Frank Naelele.

Mrs. J. A. Carlisle, chairman of the home economics department, arranged the lovely affair and feels very much gratified over the splendid work accomplished by the members of her department. Mrs. J. M. Manry assisted Mrs. Carlisle and Mrs. Richardson in receiving the guests.

The exhibition was preceded by an elaborate luncheon at which a number of notable vocational training experts were guests of honor. Among those attending were F. E. Land, state director for vocational training; Paul W. Chapman, superintendent of agriculture; J. F. Turner, superintendent of trade and industries; C. W. Clift, vice chairman for vocational work; Miss Bessie Campbell, state supervisor of home economic work, and Superintendent Sutton, of the Atlanta public schools. Interesting talks bearing on the training classes of the Woman's club were made by Miss Campbell, Mr. Land and Mr. Chapman. Mrs. J. A. Carlisle, chairman of the club home economic work, presided and other club officers were present.

"Better Home Week in America" Will Be Observed in Atlanta

The national board has appointed Atlanta of any seen since war times. Assisting the board in the choice of demonstration homes have been George Northen, secretary of the Atlanta Real Estate Board and its appointee on the general committee, and W. W. Davidson, head of the multiple listing division of the real estate board. As a result of a long search for suitable homes, the committee has selected for its most expensive exhibit a home on Virginia avenue, another on Dill avenue suitable for a family of about half the salary, and perhaps the most helpful of all, a bungalow which is being built to order near Atlanta university as a demonstration for negroes. This will be in the hands of a carefully selected colored committee which will strive to aid in the proper building of homes and selection of equipment with a suitable list of books and music.

Specialists in all branches of the general demonstration have been selected, and these are working now with their committees. Mrs. G. Bernard Scott, the appointee of the Atlanta Art association on the general committee, will have charge of the furnishing and interior decorating, assisted by Mrs. Ernest Stach Hill and a committee. Mrs. Verna O'Neill Watkins, child training specialist, plans a splendid demonstration in nursery and playground equipment, while kitchen demonstrations will be in the capable hands of Mrs. Floy Shannon McGee, Fulton county demonstrator from the State Agricultural college. Her work will be augmented by experts from the college, especially during "Better Homes Week." Mrs. H. G. Hastings, assisted by Miss Hattie Rainwater, of the Atlanta schools, will be in charge of "Better Gardens" and will have on her committee garden chairmen from the clubs in the fifth district. Mrs. Stevens Hostess. Mrs. T. T. Stevens will be official hostess for the two homes for white people, and will ask representatives from clubs in the City Federation to serve in groups each afternoon and evening of the demonstration. "Better Homes" program, which form one of the most important features of the week, are in the hands of Mrs. Cleve Webb, who will ask all specialists in Atlanta to assist in this valuable work.

Girl Scouts, Camp Fire Girls and Boy Scouts will be featured in every way possible in the demonstration, since in the instruction of the younger generation lies the greatest hope for future "Better Homes." Appointed for the first two of these are Mrs. Parry for the scouts, and Mrs. McCormack for the Campfire Girls. Other chairmen are F. D. Burge, Georgia Institute of Architects; Beaumont Davison, Atlanta Retail Merchants' association; H. J. C. Pearson, Atlanta Electric association; Mrs. J. E. Springer, Buckeye Woman's club; Mrs. E. N. Parker, Emory Woman's club; Mrs. Floy Shannon McGee, East Point Woman's club; Mrs. P. H. Elson, Tech Woman's club; Mrs. Moreland Sheer, Atlanta chapter, D. A. R.; Mrs. H. L. Parry, Girl Scouts; Mrs. Frank McCormack, Campfire Girls; and Mrs. G. Bernard Scott, Atlanta Art association.

Other Atlanta bodies which have been asked to appoint a representative are urged to do so, so that no talent will be missing from what is hoped will be the finest and most helpful demonstration in all America.

Atlanta Kindergarten Teachers Are Entertained by Mothers' Club

The group includes members of the Mothers' club of the Nellie Peters Black free kindergarten, of Luckie street school. They are, top row, leading from left to right, Mrs. J. H. Dunbar, Mrs. Harry Brown, Mrs. R. E. Bobbitt, Mrs. W. R. Echols, president; Mrs. J. M. Shearer, assistant teacher. Bottom row, Mrs. A. Steingrade, Mrs. Ray S. Baxter, secretary; Mrs. W. R. Earnest; Mrs. A. M. Ingram and Mrs. George Bancroft.

The Mothers' club and P. T. A. of the Nellie Peters Black free kindergarten of the Luckie street school were joint hostesses to the kindergarten teachers of the public schools recently. The pupils of Nellie Peters Black Kindergarten of Luckie street school presented a most attractive demonstration, consisting of songs, games and rhythms, some of which were the children's original interpretations. Specimens of their handwork furnished the decorations of attractive posters and borders. The sand table presented in miniature the kindergarten building, mark grounds and outdoor equipment. The doll house furnishings being constructed from their building blocks. They also made the favours, flying blue birds, which ornamented the beautiful luncheon plates, served by the mothers of the kindergarten, assisted by some of the teachers, whose faithful loyalty and hearty cooperation has been the inspiration of this beautiful work which has existed for 26 years. It is through their efforts that this school equipment represents the most complete and progressive materials.

The latest addition, the library corner, a charming retreat for the youthful enjoyment of beautifully illustrated fairy-tales, was made possible through the generosity of community corporations—the Randall Lumber company, Moncrief Furnace company, and the Coca-Cola company.

The Mothers' club made a love gift of $250, in recognition of the wonderful work accomplished by the founder and president of the Free Kindergarten association, Mrs. Nellie Peters Black, in whose honor the school was named and is now a living memorial to the cause she so nobly sponsored. In May, 1923, the Atlanta Free Kindergarten association presented the building and equipment to the board of education. Kindergartens are now a part of the public school system. A training recognized by the leading educators as one of the most essential factors in education—the habit formation and character building age.

BEAUTY CHATS

By Edna K. Forbes

CHAPPED LIPS

Chapped lips are not entirely a winter complaint, in fact many people suffer far more on windy spring days under a hot summer sun. The best way to prevent this annoyance is to always carry a tiny lipstick tube of old cream in your handbag. This is not make-up, and when it rubs off, as of course it will, it will not leave a tell-tale red stain. These little uncolored lipsticks cost only ten to 15 cents, and as one lasts three months or more it certainly cannot be called an extravagance.

The real annoyance of chapped lips is that one cannot help worrying at a loose bit of skin, so that if you are not careful a mouth that is seriously sore may result from the slightest exposure to a cold wet wind, or to a hot sun. The way to guard yourself against that is to rub the lips with either a white lipstick or cold cream, not only to heal, but also to keep down the dry particles of skin, which is to use your will power and force yourself to stop the habit. Sometimes the nervousness that causes this is so extreme that it should be treated medically.

Sores about the mouth or on the lips are usually treated by people as no more serious than ordinary cases of chapping. If they are very large and painful a doctor should be consulted. Little canker sores or small ulcers in the mouth need only be touched four or five times a day with a pure nitrate-of-silver pencil and wash is also good for this condition. A hare lip can be cured now so that it is scarcely visible.

Penelope—It will take a little time, but the daily use of cleansing cream, followed up by washing with a fine soap and warm water, will clear your skin of the blackheads. Never use any preparation on your complexion in which there is cocoa butter. Your weight is all right for your age and height.

Reader—The sensation called "heart burn" comes from indigestion, which probably is what causes you to get short of breath when walking up a hill. While this condition is not serious, it should not be allowed to go on, as you will lose weight and your nervous system become affected. Consult the doctor.

Tomorrow—Red Hands. All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a

Monotony of the Fox Trot May Bring Back Cotillion

BY ELEANOR BOYKIN.

There are undoubtedly many Atlantans, hangers-on of the last generation, who remember the once-popular cotillion which has disappeared in the last twenty-five years. From rumors constantly recurring in and around New York, it now appears that they may look upon its like again and that the young devotees of the dance may soon be joining in its complicated figures.

It has been evident for some time that an innovation is wanted to read the monotony of the inescapable fox-trot. Not long ago, the society editor of The New York Times wrote: "Dancing is still society's chief diversion, but there is a clamor among all dance enthusiasts for new steps and something that will put more life into the ballroom functions." At least two balls given at Sherry's this winter introduced the cotillion, and in one or two nearby towns it was the feature of country club dances this winter. The cotillion was discussed, too, for a series of dances to be given for the younger set, and now comes the latest hint that it may be Jazz's successor in "Vogue's Book of Etiquette." The chapter in this book on "Dances, Balls and Parties in General" begins: "Before we write at any length of parties of the present, we feel that we must devote some thought to parties of the past, which, from the inquiries made about cotillions in particular, may be parties of the near future."

Dances of Past.
There follows then a picture of the cotillion as it was 25 or 40 years ago, a picture so fascinating that one of today's generation, used to seeing crowds "totter and toddle and jig and jazz," as the author puts it, contemplates with pleasant anticipation the revival of so picturesque and lively a pastime as the cotillion.

At the Vogue offices it was said that there are many requests over the telephone and by letter asking for information about cotillions, which is the reason that the prospect of renewed interest in the old-fashioned entertainment had been mentioned.

"It is hardly to be thought of," said one of the editors, herself a participant in New York's memorable cotillions, "that the cotillion will ever come back as the elaborate and extravagant revelry it was before; it would be too strenuous and too expensive for our commercial life of today. But, given in a simpler way, it would be an admirable after-supper variation for those who crave novelty for their balls. Such hostesses may have among their guests some of the followers of the cotillion leaders who came heavier than even the popularity of the dance warranted. Bunches of real flowers, wreaths and garlands of artificial ones; straw hats trimmed with them or with floating figures; yards of brilliant-hued ribbons, sometimes tinkling with bells; great rainbow striped silk bags; satin bonnet boxes and silver toys were no uncommon medley of objects to be found at the same party. Sometimes, they were heaped on a table at the end of a room, and a succession of couples indicated by the cotillion leader, danced to this table to make their selection; after which they bestowed a favor upon the man or woman with whom they chose to continue the figure.

"Sometimes, favors were carried about by two footmen with trays, one tray containing favors for the men and the other those for women. They made a tour of the ballroom, and half a dozen couples at a time, armed with the same number of presents, went off in search of favorite partners. The favors for men ranged from real or artificial boutonnieres to matchboxes and cigarette-holders and cases; even to scarf pins and sleeve-buttons. There were imitation orders, too, and decorations of all kinds, so that a much befooled gentleman might glitter, for a night at least, like the most distinguished of foreign diplomats. The effect of the flowers, the tinsel, the bells, the floating feathers, swaying bags and fluttering ribbons was extremely gay.

"But there were a great many heart-burnings. Good seats, well-placed in the front row near the cotillion, became so important that not to have secured them by luck, persuasion or intimidation marred the evening for many; and while the minority of lovely or distinguished or influential women amused themselves hugely, there was always a number of nice-looking, well-dressed girls, good dancers and pleasant companions enough, who, for one reason or another, did not make a great success of the evening. For one thing, the cotillion was seldom begun until after supper, and it lasted till any hour in the morning; so in a community where most of the men were in business, its demands—which were for practical sleeplessness—could not be met, and the sterner sex hesitated, as a whole, to engage itself for the dance. This left partnerless many young ladies who had every right to expect partners. Moreover, the few gentlemen possessed of leisure and the spirit of leadership gradually disappeared from this, as from other agreeable social foregrounds; also the extremely generous use of expensive favors by the lavishly entertained, the moderate dance-givers; and when, added to this, only the most admired women enjoyed it to the full, one sees why the cotillion for the time being fell into disuse.

Quaint and Pretty.
"It may be revived under more county line and complete the road from Atlanta northward. The committee, which will make the report at the meeting is composed of R. H. Black, J. L. Roper and C. Cornwall. J. M. Kitchen is president of the club.

ROME LAUNCHES TRAFFIC DRIVE TO STOP ACCIDENTS

Rome, Ga., April 15.—(Special.)—"Clean up Rome" is the order which has been passed to the police force by E. E. Lindsey, chairman of the board of commissioners. "Traffic laws are being flagrantly disregarded, and it has got to stop. Rome streets must be made safe."

This edict was given members of the police force after a consultation by City Manager King and Chief of Police Harris. Mr. Lindsey stated that the future Romans, or tourists, will not be permitted to "run wild" on the streets here.

DOCTOR QUALIFIED POLITICAL LEADER. COPELAND CLAIMS

Raleigh, N. C., April 15.—The doctor is one of the best qualified men in the country to be a leader in politics and to serve his nation in governmental affairs, declared Dr. Royal S. Copeland, United States senator from New York, speaking to the annual convention of the North Carolina Medical society here tonight.

It is apparent, he said, that when conditions are really considered and the purpose of government thought of rightly, that the most vital problems are to do with things with which a physician is most familiar. The popular idea that lawyers are the natural statesmen, he claimed, was a misconception despite the fact that there were 82 lawyers in the United States senate out of the total number of 96 members.

The senator stated that the physician visited the homes of the poor and had opportunity to see the suffering that went on in the world and the lack of food and nourishment of

WHY WOMEN LOOK GO AT 40

With dark circles under their eyes, yellow complexion, drawn expressions, drooping shoulders, a lagging step, many women of forty have the appearance of women of sixty. In many cases this condition is caused by overwork or neglect of such warning symptoms, as headaches, backache, nervousness, displacements, and irregularities which indicate ailments peculiar to women. If all women so afflicted would only rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound it would restore them to a normal healthy condition, and the premature signs of age will soon disappear.—(adv.)

FUNERAL SERVICE HELD FOR DR. JOHN PROCTOR

Athens, Ga., April 15.—(Special.)—Funeral services for Dr. John P. Proctor, second victim to die in the fatal crash of the automobile which last Thursday night plunged from a bridge near here, were held at the First Baptist church here today. Miss Nellie Eberhardt is holding her own at St. Mary's hospital, it was reported by doctors there tonight.

Miss Irene Day, student nurse, who was with Dr. Proctor and Miss Eberhardt answering the rush call to operate on a patient at Jackson, Ga., died before rescuers arrived.

Dr. J. C. Wilkinson, pastor, assisted by Dr. A. G. Richards, of the Episcopal church, officiated. Members of the Knights Templars, of which he was an officer, appearing in uniform. The active pallbearers were Past Emment Commanders W. F. Dorsey, Gasper Palmisano, E. B. Cohen, A. L. Harper, W. C. Jordan, E. C. Paine, James Barrow and W. A. Capps. W. L. Stanley, S. P. Stringfellow, F. C. Cluney, R. W. Rogers, G. R. Carlton, all of Atlanta and officials of the Seaboard railroad, which he served as a member of the medical staff, represented that railroad as honorary pallbearers. Members of the medical society, nurses of St. Mary's hospital, members of Georgia university faculty and members of the Sigma Chi were the honorary escorts.

Members of Dr. Proctor's immediate family surviving are his widow, Mrs. Proctor; three children, Agnes, Harriet and Jack Proctor; two sisters, Mrs. W. T. Bryan, Athens; Mrs. George Russell, Drakes Branch, Va.; and three brothers, Dr. W. E. Proctor, Sheffield, Fla.; C. L. Proctor, Joplin, Mo.; and R. L. Proctor, Nashville, Tenn.

DIPPING KILLS CATTLE; TO ANALYZE SOLUTION

Moultrie, Ga., April 15.—The death of several head of cattle within a short time after they had been dipped in the Ty district dipping vat, has resulted in the board of county commissioners ordering the solution in the vat analyzed for the purpose of ascertaining if it has been tampered with since it was recharged last Thursday. It was pointed out that no ill effects should result from dipping, and that if cows die as a result of being driven through a vat something undoubtedly has been placed in the solution, which was originally prepared since the formula is known to be harmless. Besides the cattle dying several others are said to have been made sick.

COLUMBUS FIRM TO USE 900 MEN IN BUILDING DAM

Columbus, Ga., April 15.—Nine hundred men, including superintendents, will be employed by the Columbus Electric and Power company in the construction of the $1,000,000 dam and power plant at Bartlett's Ferry on the Chattahoochee river, 18 miles from Columbus, according to R. M. Harding, local manager.

Preliminary plans for the electrical producing center have been completed. Mr. Harding announced today. Starting of work depends upon action of the interstate commerce commission, in whose hands the plant plans have been for official action.

According to Mr. Harding today, it is planned to start work at the ferry as soon after May 10 as practicable. On that date the commerce commission meets and as soon as they act upon the matter work will start.

PRESBYTERIANS CUT MISSIONARY DEBT $100,000 IN 1923

Savannah, Ga., April 15.—(Special.)—Southern Presbyterians have reduced their "foreign missions" deficit, according to a report of Rev. S. L. Anderson, chairman of the foreign missions committee of the Savannah presbytery.

The church year closed March 31, says the report, with offerings for foreign missions amounting to $1,397,413, an increase of nearly $185,000 over the year preceding and making a reduction of $100,000 in the debt of the board. The amount due is about $150,000.

Slade Starts Audit Of State Expenditure At Milledgeville

Milledgeville, Ga., April 15.—(Special.)—Sam J. Slade, head of the state department of auditors, accompanied by Le Roy Phant and O. G. Jackson, assistant examiners and auditors, are making a study of methods and systems employed in handling the public funds appropriated by the state for the operation and upkeep of institutions located here.

A complete audit of each institution will be made. Auditor Slade and his assistants began today a study of the system of accounting at the Georgia state sanitarium and will visit the state prison farm, Boys' Training school and Georgia State College for Women.

Willie P. King, Battle Hill sanitarium, Atlanta, Ga.
Sarah Whitteman, 201 Gordon street, Atlanta, Ga.
Billie Carroll, 36 Howell place, Atlanta, Ga.

FROLIC NO. 15. How to Win a Snuggle Pup.

Here are the Snuggle Pups at home. There's Ma Snuggle, herself, sitting in the other room knitting some new socks for her little Snuggles. And right before us little Jazz Snuggle Pup tickling the ivories.

This picture of Jazz isn't very good, so today's frolic requires all the boys and the girls to draw the Snuggle Pup frolics to finish it by starting with pencil at No. 1 and tracing it out to No. 42.

When you have finished tracing out Jazz at the piano, take your color crayons or your water colors and add whatever artistic touches your good taste dictates. Then clip out the picture and box under No. 15. Write name and address (do not detach name slip from picture) and mail it to Mother Snuggle, The Constitution, Atlanta, Ga. Write on the outside of the envelope, on the lower left hand corner, "Frolic No. 15."

The Snuggle Pups, of the Cuddle model, will be given to the boys and girls sending in the best frolics. These frolics will be judged by the blending of the colors, neatness and age of the boy or girl submitting the frolic.

Boys and girls within 50 miles of Atlanta must have their frolics in The Constitution office by 6 p. m. Thursday, but boys and girls more than 50 miles from Atlanta have until 6 p. m. Friday.

Junior Red Cross Outlines Activities.

The Junior Red Cross council met Tuesday, April 8, in the auditorium of Commercial High school, at which time Commercial High acted as host for all schools of the city. After a few cordial words of greeting by Homer Mayfield, Mrs. C. B. Dexter, secretary for Junior Red Cross, was introduced. She outlined the activities for the month of May as follows: Collect tinfoil; make Easter favors for institutions of city; continue with quilt squares; and collect victrola records.

A small amount from service fund of each school was asked for, to be applied to national children's fund. A new activity which will be undertaken this month is "collecting toys." The Atlanta firemen have consented to repair and resole the toys. With this assistance a fund of toys will be collected for the children of the city.

A letter of thanks was read from Atlanta "Child's Home" expressing gratitude to Red Cross Juniors for their donation of a baby bed and mattress, 15 scrap books, and 15 victrola records.

A request from Miss Robinson, Bass Hospital No. 48, for favors to be sent at Easter time, was heartily responded to. List of names of children in the different institutions of city were distributed in order for them to receive Easter greetings.

A convalescent notice was extended to all schools to be present at Health Carnival, April 11, at Baptist Tabernacle annex.

There being no further business the social feature of the council was in order.

The program was as follows: "Di Casini" Miss Staley, director; duet, "Wanders' Night Song," Mary Frances Turner, Elizabeth Volberg; piano solo, "Song of the Sea," Lela Redmond; C. H. S. The Constitution's Patterns

A PLEASANT MORNING DRESS. 4671. Printed voile is here portrayed. One could use gingham, chambray, linen, saten or crepe. The pattern is cut in 7 sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 inches bust measure. A 28-inch size requires 4 3/4 yards of 32-inch material. The width at the foot is about 2 1/2 yards. Pattern mailed to any address on receipt of 10c in silver or stamps.

A POPULAR APRON MODEL. 4515. Checked percale and linen are here combined. Crepe in two colors or gingham and chambray together would be pleasing. This is also a good model for saten and chintz in various patterns or colors. If made of one material, piping or binding of figured or material in a contrasting color would be attractive. The pattern is cut in 4 sizes: Small, 34-36; medium, 38-40; large, 42-44; extra large, 46-48 inches bust measure. A medium size requires 4 1/8 yards of 36-inch material. For waist, pockets and belt of contrasting material 1 3/8 yard is required. Pattern mailed to any address on receipt of 10c in silver or stamps.

A SIMPLE FROCK FOR SERVICE OR PORCH WEAR. 4364. Percale in a pretty pattern is here combined with white linen to make a pleasing version of a popular style. This is a good model also for gingham, damask or crepe. The pattern is cut in 4 sizes: Small, 34-36; medium, 38-40; large, 42-44; extra large, 46-48 inches bust measure. A medium size requires 4 5/8 yards of 32-inch material. For facings and belt of contrasting material 5/8-yard 36 inches wide is required. The width at the foot is 2 3/8 yards. Pattern mailed to any address on receipt of 10c in silver or stamps.

Mrs. Howard McCall Writes of Meeting.

Mrs. Howard McCall, Georgia delegate to the meeting of the National Law-Enforcement League in Washington last week, writing back to Atlanta friends declares the convention one of far-reaching importance and possessed of a number of interesting features.

Mrs. William J. Harris, wife of Georgia's senator, was also a Georgia delegate at the meeting.

"Senator George made the best speech on the program," Mrs. McCall writes, and adds that "men and women prominent in official Washington were on the program as well as distinguished people from all parts of the country. Mrs. William S. Jennings, first vice president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, and a vice president of the Law Enforcement League, was the only southern woman on the program. Mrs. H. Curtis D. Wilbur, secretary of the Lorimer, Judge Kathryn Sellers and Mrs. Mina Van Winkle, head of the woman bureau of the District of Columbia police department. Means of changing opinion were outlined by Mrs. Katherine S. Cronk, Mrs. Marie Moore Forrest and Mrs. Ida Clyde Clarke, editor of the Women's News Service.

Mrs. Gifford Pinchot headed the list of luncheon speakers which included Mrs. William Alexander, of Ohio; Mrs. Raymond and Miss Miller, of California; Mrs. William S. Jennings, of Florida; and Mrs. Herbert J. Gurney, of Massachusetts. Brief reports from state chairmen followed. The convention closed with a mass meeting on Friday evening at which the speakers were Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, Mrs. Norris, Mrs. Clarke and Allen W. Barkley, representative from Kentucky.

Aurora Club To Meet Thursday.

Aurora club will meet Thursday evening in its clubrooms at the Jewish Educational Alliance on Capitol avenue.

An Easter egg hunt will be given by Mrs. Edward S. Lewis at her home on Peachtree Circle this afternoon, to celebrate the eighth birthday of her son, Morgan.

CONVICT KILLED; MATE SUES COUNTY FOR $25,000 SUM

Rome, Ga., April 15.—(Special.)—Jessie Mae Wood, negro, widow of Cicero Wood, recently killed while serving a sentence at the Floyd county gang camp near here, today filed suit against the county for $25,000 damages. She alleges negligence on the part of camp officials in sending her husband into the rock quarry after a heavy rain, and states that his death is due to the lack of customary precautionary measures. Rocks were usually removed and the pit inspected, she avers.

Wood and another negro were sent into the pit together, her petition states, and a large rock slipped from above, causing Wood's death. She is represented by the firm of Porter & Mobane.

Jane Hedden Hat Pattern

No. 2723. To many women there is nothing so becoming as a mushroom sailor. Its very slight slant of brim makes it more becoming, less stiff than a straight sailor.

Model 2723 presents one of the most becoming of such shapes. The high draped crown is becoming to the girl who needs height and the woman who has a wide face oval. For the tall girl the crown may be draped lower.

Fittings of narrow ribbon are embroidered on the side crown in a design. A harmonizing or contrasting shade may be used. This ribbon trimming makes the hat sufficiently elaborate for church and informal afternoon wear. Black and white, beige and rust, sand and brown, or navy and ecru are some of the desired color combinations.

MATERIAL REQUIRED. One cap lining, 1 pressed crown, 3 yards lace wire, 1-2 yard buckram or elastic net, 1 yard 18-inch silk or straw cloth, 8 yards ribbon, beads.

HAT PATTERN ORDER. This order will bring you pattern and working instructions for making hat illustrated above. Fill in name and address, enclose 25 cents in stamps, postal note or coin—address Hat Pattern Department, Atlanta Constitution.

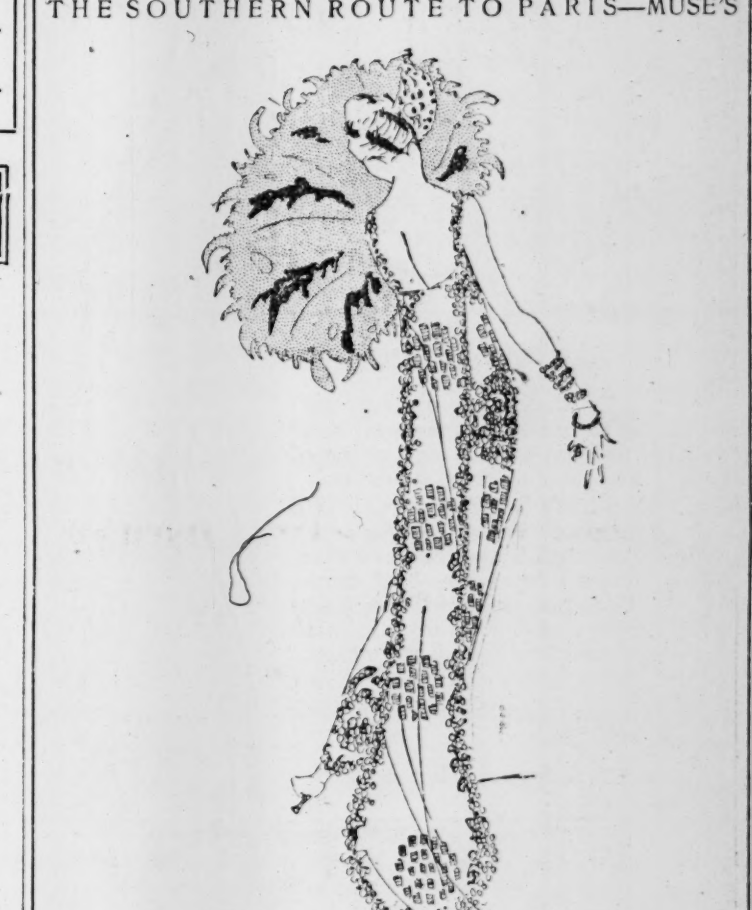

Enclosed find 25 cents. Please send me Jane Hedden Hat Pattern and instructions No. 2723.

Delicious Flaky Pie Crusts!

BAKE your favorite pie from a crust made of self-rising flour. The wholesome, flaky texture will reveal to you a new delight in pie making. Many excellent cooks find self-rising flour without equal for all kinds of delicious pastries.

Mrs. G., who has been a self-rising flour enthusiast for 21 years writes: "I like self-rising flour for pie crust because it makes a crust so light that anyone loves it. . . . I also make a great many tarts. Self-rising flour is especially fine for short-cakes. I make them of every kind of fruit, both fresh and canned, as well as with creamed chicken, fish or oysters."

Self-Rising flour comes with just the right amount of pure phosphate baking powder already mixed in to give perfect baking results. Nowhere can you buy a more healthful food—nowhere can you obtain more value for your money than in good self-rising flour.

FOLLOW THESE FIVE RULES For Making Perfect Baking with Self-Rising Flour: (1) See that your oven is hot (2) Always use sweet milk or cold water (3) Never add baking powder, soda or salt; (4) Use good shortening—lard, vegetable fat or butter; (5) Make soft dough—bake quickly.

STONE WILL PUSH WHEELER'S TRIAL

Washington, April 15.—The department of justice can see no reason for delay in proceeding with the case in which Senator Wheeler, democrat, Montana, has been indicted by a federal grand jury at Great Falls, Montana, and his arrest on the indictment is expected by officials within the next few days.

It was said today at the department of justice that Attorney General Stone expected to treat the case as any other indictment and arrest, and it was indicated that if unusual delay should occur, Mr. Stone would make inquiries to ascertain the reasons.

Previously, it had been stated at the white house that President Coolidge was leaving the entire question to Attorney General Stone. It was said at the department that probably sufficient time had now elapsed since the indictment was returned against Senator Wheeler last week, charging acceptance of money for practicing before government departments, for the warrant of arrest to be sent here for service.

Mother Love Remains True As Thaw Faces Trial Again

Philadelphia, April 15.—Across a chasm of years Harry K. Thaw and Evelyn Nesbit came face to face Tuesday at a trial which may mean freedom for one or possible fortune for the other.

The love that swept the impetuous, spendthrift Pittsburgh youth off his feet two decades ago had died. In the slightly flushed face of an elderly gray-haired man there was only a cold state of recognition.

One curious, lingering look was all Evelyn gave her former husband. Then she turned away, murmuring: "I never loved him. I married him out of pity. I guess I pity him now. You can't hate a crazy man."

Mother Love Continues.
Another woman, aged and infirm, for whom the vicissitudes of the "Thaw case" have meant ineradicable lines of care, came into court a little later after the still sprightly Evelyn, carrying her forty years with some of her former grace, had gone.

Leaning heavily upon a cane, Mrs. Mary Thaw came with shining eyes to where her son sat in the crowded, stuffy courtroom in which some of the best lawyers of the land are battling over his freedom. Love had not died in her case; the mother love of Mrs. Thaw for her son was seen as the driving force behind the move to free him.

Late in a day of lengthy arguments came another note. Witness after witness told of recent talks with Harry at "Kirkbride," where he has been confined for seven years, and each called his expressed wish—"to get out now and go home to take care of mother."

Change in Man Claimed.
A score of witnesses appeared for Thaw Tuesday to testify to his present sanity. Many had known him at the time of his incarceration in 1917, after he had attempted suicide. Many testified to an "amazing change" in the man. The Thaw of those days was emaciated, unkempt, careless of speech and manner, and seemed to have the mind of a child. He had just been indicted for beating Frederick Gump, Jr., a Kansas City lad.

Prominent Officials.
President Charles B. Gramling, Secretary-Treasurer Louis P. Marquardt, Vice President Emmett L. Quinn, Counselor James A. Miller and Assistant Counselor Bond Almand are all citizens of Atlanta, and Jerome Jones, so far as is known, the only man living who has attended every session of the state federation, is another Atlanta citizen about whom much interest will center. It is stated. Mr. Jones, editor of The Atlanta Journal of Labor, and dean of the unionists in the south, has served twice as president of the state federation since its organization in this city 26 years ago. H. F. Garrett, serving two terms, was the first head of the state federation. The state labor body has met in Atlanta four times, including the present convention.

In an effort to transact all business of the convention within the three days, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday, President Gramling requested the Atlanta Federation of Trades, as host to the convention, to eliminate, as far as practicable, social and entertainment features. This resulted in confining the social functions to one event, an elaborate banquet to be held Thursday night at the Ansley hotel, where the 200 or more delegates will meet many prominent state and municipal officials.

To Elect Officers.
Much interest will center around the naming of new officers for the ensuing year. As yet no names have been mentioned as possible candidates for the various positions. Election of officers will probably take place Friday.

The entertainment committee, appointed by President Cunningham, has completed its work, and the statement has been made that everything will be done to make delegates enjoy their trip to Atlanta, "the Convention City of the South."

The entertainment committee is composed of C. E. Jackson, Robert E. Gann, W. C. Caraway, Emmett L. Quinn and William Van Houten.

WOMAN LAWYER ADMITTED BEFORE COURT OF APPEALS

Miss Alberta Clark, of Athens, Tuesday was formally admitted to practice as a lawyer before the court of appeals of Georgia. Miss Clark made the ninth woman lawyer to be so honored in this state.

Miss Clark is a native of Wavercross and was admitted to the bar in Ware county in 1922. She is now a student at the University of Georgia and her age is officially recorded in the court archives at the capitol as 22.

U. S. OIL COUNSEL READY FOR TRIAL

Washington, April 15.—Government oil counsel have completed preparation of the criminal cases to be pressed against principals in the Teapot Dome and California naval oil reserve leases. They will lay their evidence before the federal grand jury which begins its work here Wednesday.

The government counsel, Atlee Pomerene and Owen Roberts, will attempt to show that there was conspiracy and corruption in the transactions and will ask criminal indictments of certain prominent persons connected with them. Cases to recover the property already have been filed.

TRIANGULAR DEBATE PLANS ARE COMPLETE

Arrangements for the triangular debate between Mercer, Alabama and Tech, which is to take place May 2, have been completed.

The subject of the debate is: "Resolved, That the French Occupation of the Ruhr is Justifiable." The teams are as follows: Affirmative—John Staton, opening speaker; Irving Goldman, second speaker; Negative—John Barret, first speaker; Al Phillips, conclusion. Alternates, Ed. White and William Smith.

As Alabama has debated this subject several times in Tuscaloosa, it is very probable that Tech will debate Alabama in Birmingham, and on the night of May 2 Tech will meet Mercer in the Tech Y. M. C. A. chapel. The debate between Oglethorpe and Tech has been set for May 9, but as yet the place is undecided.

LABOR FEDERATION CONVENTION OPENS

The 26th annual convention of the Georgia Federation of Labor will be called to order this morning at 10 o'clock in the Atlanta Labor temple, C. F. Jackson, temporary chairman, presiding.

Addresses of welcome will be made to the 200 or more delegates by Governor Clifford Walker for the state, Mayor Walter A. Sims on behalf of Atlanta and by C. W. Cunningham, president of the Atlanta Federation of Trades, host to the convention. A response will be made to welcome addresses by President Charles B. Gramling, to whom the official gavel will be given at the close of the opening exercises.

The invocation, which will be the opening feature of the exercises, will be delivered by Rev. S. R. Belk, prominent Methodist minister of Atlanta, and music for this and other features during the convention will be furnished by an orchestra composed of members of the Atlanta Federation of Musicians.

Following opening exercises delegates will enter at once into the business of the session, and an effort will be made, according to President Gramling, to confine the convention to three days.

No information was given out regarding various business matters to come before the gathering, but it is understood that many important questions will come before delegates. Headquarters have been opened for convenience of officers and for dispatch of business in room 108 Kimball house. Delegates from practically every section of the state will be in attendance.

STORIES OF GAY PARTIES ON BOARD STATE BOAT TOLD

Richmond, Va., April 15.—Testimony connecting McDonald Lee, commissioner of game and inland fisheries, with alleged immoral conduct aboard the state boat Commodore Maury and contradictory evidence upholding the conduct of the official while on the vessel today were given the special legislative committee investigating the department.

The names of four women were mentioned in the testimony as having been aboard the boat with Commissioner Lee, his secretary, W. N. Bailey, and other men on trips which lasted several days.

Counsel for the defense announced that these women denied any allegations of immorality brought against them and would take the stand at the first opportunity to place their denial in record.

R. M. Tomlinson, witness for the prosecution, told a story of gay parties aboard the Commodore Maury, and although he was subjected to a rigid cross-examination his testimony was not shaken. Tomlinson testified he was employed on the boat about six weeks last year and had been discharged upon orders of the commissioner.

more, such a palpable cheat, such a narrow-gauged fool and idiot! As a pastime, one could stare a four-horned hyena in the face, and get more satisfaction than from the man who endured him a little while longer. He couldn't yet, with a wave of his stick, make a tabula rasa of that smirking Siberian face.

His spirits revived as quickly, and he regarded his detective companion more amiably. It was just a big and diversified world. It had to be a big world, and some women would be always there. And because they didn't know any better than his angel—the Lady of the Veil—why of course she was an angel! And that acted as a tonic on him; left him reassured of the fundamental principle of the universe. And he felt all that something good, very surprising, shouldn't happen to him; something to repay him for all this trouble and misery.

He had a premonition that something was going to come out of it all. Music struck him again for him in the very clatter a bang of street car gongs, auto horns and shootings and cursings of truck drivers, and the very sound of a boss and run the streets of New York. In the rattle and clatter and bedlam it was still a sweet, far away song—the thought and dream of the Lady of the Veil. Surely she hadn't come to New York to go on the stage, to learn to dance in cabarets; to come to die out at late, ungodly hours; to become worldly, world-loving, like the banks! Heaven forbid the thought of her! And he thought, "And I have a fatherly talk with her, sooner, before it was too late."
